PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The President's Message Was Read in Congress Last Monday.

There was some expectation that, in accordance with his reputation for bulldog courage, the President would say something startling, which would sort of lift his party out of the depressing situation in which it now finds itself. This was anticipated in particular in regard to the currency problem, as much had been said in advance as to what the President would propose on that question. But after thirty four pages of dry and uninteresting recital of department statistics, the President closed his message with three pages devoted to the currency question. Apparently, he thought the matter not one of great concern, because in all other messages where he had a subject that he wished to give special prominence he brought it forward almost or quite at the beginning. The fact that he relegated this subject to the very close of the message, and the fact that the Secretary of the Navy in his report put the only important feature of it, that of recommending new ships, at the tail end, gives the general impression that the Administration expects no legislation to carry out its recommendations.

The President left the proposed plan of currency reform to be elaborated in the report of the Secretary of the Treasury, to be read to-morrow, but he stated all the essential points of it to-day, as did the Comptroller of the Currency yesterday in his report. This plan is virtually the so-called Baltimore plan, with some modifications. The silver men in Congress, on the Democratic side, including Speaker Crisp, are opposed to it, and the same is true of the silver men in the Senate, both Democrats and Republicans. They think that it will, if carried in[illegible] satisfy the greater number of the [illegible]sions now demanding the free coinage of silver and weaken the 50-cent dollar agitation. On the other hand, the Republicans, and the sound-money men on the Democratic side, seem to view the scheme with misgiving, and do not show any intention of trying to carry it through.

The President recommends the passage of the bills to put coal and iron ore on the tree list, and yet he calmly estimates that the deficit on June 30 next, or for the present fiscal year will be $20,000,000. It is not forgotten that just a year ago Mr. Cleveland predicted in his message that the deficit for the last fiscal year would be $28,000,000, whereas it proved to be $69,803,260. If the President is as near right now as he was last year the deficit this year will be at least $50,000,000. And if the results so far under the new tariff act are a fair basis of making an estimate, the deficit will be more than $50,000,000. For the month of November the deficit was $9,066,000, and that result was reached after three months of the new tariff law. Hence, the estimate of a deficiency of only $20,000,000 is regarded as altogether too low. But asserting that there will be a deficiency and at the same time recommending further tariff legislation to reduce the revenues is in keeping with the extraordinary lack of statesmanship or even common business prudence which has characterized this Administration from the start.

To meet the deficiency the President coolly announces his determination to keep on selling bonds. The Republicans say that the whole trouble with the finances of the Government now is simply the result of deficient revenues. If the new tariff act had produced sufficient revenues there would be no danger to the gold reserve. There never was any trouble with it until the Democratic Administration and Congress came into power and reduced the revenues by their threat of tariff legislation which threat was actually carried out. Mr. Aldrich and others assert that it is entirely useless to pass any currency bills with the view of improving the situation because the trouble arises from the lack of revenues. And yet the President calmly recommends that Congress reduce the revenues still more by this additional tariff legislation.

HIS FREE SHIP THEORY.

The recommendation in favor of free ships is a further illustration of the President's wonderful statesmanship. There could scarcely be everything imported which would be a more highly finished piece of workmanship than a steamship. The President does not propose to put on the free list the raw materials for producing steamships but he proposes to admit the finished article free. He at the same time says that the law refusing American registry to foreign built ships has caused the loss of our carrying trade wholly forgetful of the fact that this law has been on the statute book since the time when Washington was first elected President and that under it the country at one time carried ninety-five per cent. of both its imports and exports. Nothing could prove more clearly the fact that it is not that law that stands in the way of our doing our own carrying trade, or a fair share of it. But, as one of the Democratic Senators remarked to-night, the President has got free trade on the brain, and cannot see plain facts because of this dementia.

A great deal of disapointment was caused by the failure of the President to say any thing about the construction of the Nicaragua Canal. He talked a good deal about Nicaragua and Bluefield, in which the interest of the United States grow out of the fact that a canal is to be constructed but as to the canal itself to say nothing, although last year he did include in his message a recommendation in its favor. Senator Morgan, Mr. Malloy in the House, and other Democrats, have been busily at work sounding members in regard to the canal, and they have reached the conclusion that there was a fair prospect of some legislation on the subject. But the refusal of the President to say a word concerning it, although he was urgently requested to do so, though at the same time he talks a good deal about Nicaragua, has been a cause of a good deal of disappointment to the friend of the canal. They fear now that even if a bill were passed giving Government aid to the canal, he might veto it.

ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

The entire part of the message relating to foreign affairs came in for very general criticism. There is an apparent attempt by Mr. Gresham, who wrote this part of the message, to conceal the truth about the effort of the Administration to intercede in the Chinese-Japanese war. The paragraph relating to this says: "I would not hesitate to heed any intimation that our friendly aid would be acceptable to both belligerents." As Mr. Frye, of the Senate committee on Foreign Relations, remarked, that is a further singular method of referring to this question when it is known to all the world that the President has already endeavored to bring about peace in the interest of China.

Then the reference to the Chilean claims commission is another curious affair. It is well known that owing to the failure of Secretary Gresham to make any move, as requested by the American Minister in Chila, to extend the time of the commission which was appointed to settle those claims, that its life expired before a large number of American claims could be considered. It was a piece of wanton neglect on the part of the Secretary of State. But the President now announces that negotiations are in prog[illegible]s for the submission of those claims to a new tribunal. The old tribunal would have considered them all if Gresham had only attended to his business as he should have done.

The President also has a singular reference to the reciprocity treaty with Brazil. That treaty contained a provision requiring a three months' notice from either Government for the termination of the agreement, but it was in the most discourteous and shameful manner repealed peremptorily by the Democratic tariff bill. Mr. Cleveland says that the Government of Brazil was duly notified that the commercial arrangement was abrogated, but nothwithstanding that fact, Brazil notified this Government that the arrangement would terminate on the 1st day of January next. In other words, Brazil adhered to the pledge made with the United States which Mr. Cleveland seems to regard as a cause of complaint. Considering the trouble that this country has had with Brazil, Spain, Germany and other nations over the unpatriotic and scandalous course of the Democratic Congress in repealing those commerical arrangements, and thus losing $30,000,000 a year worth of trade, the President would, according to the general expression of opinion here, have been wise to have made no reference to the subject.

The President has not a word of sympathy for the Armenians, who have been atrociously massacred, and he renews his recommendation that the United States should scuttle out of Samoa. Mr. Morgan, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, is said to have been much incensed at this recommendation. Samoa will be of much importance to the United States whenever the Nicaraguan Canal is constructed. The President not only refused to say a word in behalf of the canal, but he recommends that this country should leave Samoa for Great Britain or Germany to gobble up.

Some surprise was also expressed over the announcement in the message that the Secretary of State had agreed to pay Canada $425,000 for the sealing vessels seized in Bering Sea. This will amount to about $14,000 for each one of the piratical vessels seized, and according to good testimony, they would not have averaged over $10,000 in value each when new. Canada has practically destroyed this valuable source of revenue to the United States, and now it is to get an exorbitant sum in payment for its vessels which were engaged in the piratical work.

Of all the numerous expressions of opinion made by members of Congress on the message, not a single one gave it unqualified approval or even warm praise.

The State Board of Health.

Those who labored for years, in season and out, to secure the creating of a State Board of Health predicted that once established, even with limited powers, the board would speedily justify its creation and that very few would be willing to have the law repealed. This prediction has been abundantly verified. The original law has been strengthened by subsequent legislation creating local boards tributary to the State Boord in all cities and boroughs within the State, and as the State Board has power to act in all other localities its supervision of the sanitary condition is rendered practically complete. An act passed by the last Legislature, establishing an emergency fund of $50,000 for use in case of a threatening emergency like the prevalence of a fatal epidemic, clothes the board with a practical power, which fortunately has never been called into requisition.

The most notable illustration of the usefulness of the State Board of Health is in the recent outbreak of small-pox in the State. The disease prevailed not only in this city but in several of the interior counties, the outbreak at Reading being especially serious. The board is able to report at this time but one case in the State outside of Philadelphia, showing that the infection has been not only checked but effectually stamped out in the State at large. The cases in that city are now under rigid quarantine, and if the Councils do their duty by providing the local board with the necessary funds the disease will soon be under control there.

Of course no one will pretend that the State Board is as effective as it can be made. The law which created it has been in force less than ten years; it limits the expenditures of the board almost to the point of niggardliness, and the great area of the State, many sections of which are sparsely populated and difficult of ready access, renders it impossible that accurate and effective supervision can be exercised everywhere. But the law has fully justified its originators and future Legislatures should stand ready to amend it in the direction of greater efficiency. The preservation of the lives and health of the people of the Commonwealth is of the first importance, and for the promotion of this end the State Board of Health has proved itself a most useful agency.

Schofield And Howard.

Among the recommendations of the President that will attract attention is the one in regard to the revival of the grade of lieutenant general for the benefit of Major General Schofield, soon to retire. There will be little dissent from the President's statement that this would be "a just and gracious act" considered by itself. But it can hardly be so considered. It will be a precedent which will be pleaded with irresistible force for a like act of grace to General Miles and the other soldiers of the Civil War, at least, who shall succeed to the command of the army. We are not sure that this is an objection to it.

As it stands, General Schofield will retire next September, at the age of 64, on a salary of $5625. The pay of lieutenant general is $11,000, with no deduction on retirement. General Schofield is the eighteenth general-in-chief of the army of the United States, only four of whom, Washington, Scott, Grant and Sheridan, had the title of lieutenant general. Sherman had the title before he was general-in-chief General Schofield's services in the war, great and honorable as they are, are scarcely more distinguished honorable and important than those of General O O Howard, who only escapes succeeding to the chief command of the Army of the United States by reaching his 64th year ten months before General Schofield.

We are of the opinion that both these distinguished major generals of volunteers of the Civil War and major generals in the regular army service might fairly receive some more substantial recognition than the three-fourths major general's retirement pay which now comes to them by law. They are nearly the same age, their army services are alike important and honorable Howard is the senior in point of service, but Schofield received his commission as major general in the regular army in 1860, while Howard, then a major general in the regular army by brevet, was giving his time to the Freemen's Bureau. An act of grace that retired General Schofield with $13,000 a year and an unusual grade and left General Howard with his three-quarters major general's pay would be a discrimination not just or fair to General Howard.

Weekly Financial Review.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1, 1894.

Wall Street still remains comparatively stagnant. Even the great success of the Treasury loan has failed to raise a ripple of excitement and has produced no visible effect upon prices. There has been times and conditions when such an exhilarating event would have inspired a speculative "boom" but operators have been comparatively insensible to this negotiation, in spite of its assuring suggestions.

It is easy to draw mistaken inferences from this apparent indifference in Wall Street sentiment. The men of the Stock Exchange appreciate as well as others the gratifying significance of a national loan being bid for, under the present unsettled circumstances, to an amount three times the sum offered; and if they have not gone wild over the fact, it is because there have been concurrent circumstances that made the moment inopportune for any important speculative effort. The spirit of the Street has been chilled by another blast of discouragement from the Grange region. Following the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the steady Chicago & Northwestern has reduced its dividend and among the roads of that section the feeling is one of some discouragement at the spirit shown in politics and by judges and juries against the railroad interest. The annual statement of Erie, one of the worst in the history of its operations, has also been unexpectedly discouraging. A point is now being reached in railroad affairs which reveals the full effect of the great depression that has befallen every interest; and although this has been foreseen and largely discounted in the fall of prices, yet it is not surprising if some shock is felt when the full-blown results appear in official figures and reductions of dividends by leading roads, Beyond these influences, there is the decline of speculation, if not [illegible]so some measure of realizing that is always incident to the approach of the close of the year; and this influence is likely to be the more apparent now because the year's result of business cannot be expected to prove exhilarating. Under these circumstances, it is not surprising that the success of the loan produced so little effect upon the Stock Market.

Nevertheless, viewed as a test of financial conditions, the subscription for thrice the amount of bonds offered affords some welcome revelations. The fact shows that the common talk here and abroad about distrust in the Government credit is more a matter of surface criticism and monetary pessimism than of real want of confidence. It means that, while there is no disposition to ignore that some serious derangements and unsound conditions exist in our national finances, yet there is no lack of public confidence that these faults will be soon remeded. In fact, it is realized that, as a nation, we are in the midst of a manifold process of reconstruction, which naturally involves some confusion and much missapprehension; yet it is at the same time seen that the drift is toward the incorporation in our affairs of what is new and better in the methods and conditions of the times; and this fact implies an advantage to financial operations which will soon find due expression.

The success of the loan has an important effect as evidencing a revival of confidence among investors. It shows that the owners of the mass of capital so long kept idle are becoming satisfied that the depression in the value of sound securities has reached bottom. When the Government has 150 millions offered at 3 per cent it is a fair presumption that there is a large amount of money waiting to enter investments of other kinds at 4 to 5 per cent. The holders of this capital have now a plain standard of what they may get, and so far the way cleared to the negotiation of corporate securities.

The largeness of the subscriptions to the loan is the more remarkable in view of the fact that it was intended to repair a misfortune in the public finances; that it is the second of the kind within nine months; and that there is some public misgiving whether it may not have to be followed by still further borrowing. Public feeling has run high in connection with the discussion of question of fiscal and monetary policy; and the query is fairly before the country— in what kind of money shall the common mass of our long obligations be payable? This question was directly pertinent to the new bonds, and it was distinctly understood that, under the Authorizing Act, the bonds were subject to payment in silver coin as well as gold. Yet, in the face of this fact, our people have been willing to take three times the amount of the obligation offered. That is a very unmistakable expression of intelligent conviction that ten years hence the Government will be as certainly upon a gold paying basis as it has ever has been. This is an answer of no little importance to the foreign investors who have too hastily inferred from our heated discussion of monetary question that there is some real danger of the country drifting upon taken at their worst significance by foreign observers; but it is hardly supposable that our European critics can fail to correct their extravagant conclusions by the expression af capitalistic opinion afforded by this significant negotiation. They cannot be insensible to the fact that we, the most competent judges, do not share their apprehensions; nor to the further fact that whatever assistance the Government may temporarily need, to keep its finances fortified by an edequate shock of gold, will be readily supplied by the banks and the people. This manifest assurance cannot but pass for much among the class who make opinion among the bankers and on the bourses across the Atlantic, however it may be among the less informed editors and the class of small investors for whom they carelessly cater.

For the reasons here expressed, we look for some important ultimate advantages from the success of the fifty millions loan. At the moment, hower, there is too much in the influences affecting finances that is still in a stage of suspense, to admit of any really active movement on the market for securities. These uncertainties, however, are not suggestive of aggravation of any existing unhealthy conditions. They are connected with measures and policies expressly contemplated for a better regulation of monetary and financial affairs; and therefore, though they may hold investment and speculation in check in some measure, they afford no motive for realizing and no reason for expecting lower prices for securities.

War Between Reformers.

There is a prospect of war between the New York Reformers, Reformer Parkhurst having recently declared that Reformer Platt was worse than five crokers. The man from Tioga county, who always wears an "I've eaten the canary" smile no matter how mad he feels, has been counting up the Platt men in the Legislature, and the result of the canvass is said to be much to the satisfaction of Reformer Platt. There are more Platt than Parkhurst men in both houses, and the reformer from Tioga is waiting for Reformer Parkhurst to say some more pleasant things about him.

The bone of contention between the two reformers is the Police Department. Parkhurst wants a single Police Commissioner with unlimited power of removal, and he wants the first incumbent of the new department to make a clean sweep, including Superintendent Byrnes. Platt wants a bi-partisan commission, one-half of which will recognize him as the real chief, and he wants Byrnes retained in the bargain. With his control of the Legislature Platt can have his way unless Parkhurst can raise such a popular clamor that the Platt legislators are frightened into compliance with Parkhurst's wishes.

This brings the Platt-Parkhurst imbroglio to the stage of meditation about what had best be done. Platt is ready for war and inclined to peace if he can have his way. Parkhurst wants peace and his own way, too; but, having less experience than Platt in legislative war, he doesn't quite know whether he wants war or not. The two reformers are lying on their arms and thinking about it. Meanwhile Platt's lieutenants are hinting to Mayor Strong that if he wants a power of removal bill passed by this Legislature he will do well not to let Parkhurst run his administration, and Mayor Strong is thinking about it, too.

It may not be amiss to suggest that the people of New York care more to reap some substantial fruits from their victory over Tammany than they do for the differences of opinion between Parkhurst and Platt. Perhaps it would be well for the members of the New York Legislature to obey this popular demand than to divide between Parkhurst and Platt factions. If this is done the war between Platt and Parkhurst will be harmless at least. If not, the victory over Tammany will hardly be productive of much real reform.

Dangerous Counterfeit.

Chief Hazen, of the secret service at Washington, has given out a description of the new and dangerous counterfeit of the $2 United States silver certificate. It is of the series of 1891, check letter B, plate K, and has on it the signatures of "W. S. Rosecrans, register," and "E. K. Nebeker, treasurer." The counterfeit is one-eighth of an inch larger than the genuine note. The eyes in the picture of Windom are a little larger than in the genuine, and are more bulging. The outline on the right side of the face is not clearly defined, the shade line running into the face between the eye and the ear. The shading around the large figure 2 on the back of the note is represented by perpendicular lines in the counterfeit, while in the genuine, both perpendicular and horizontal lines are used, forming small squares. The silk threads in the counterfeit are heavier than those in the genuine.

TWO WERE DROWNED.

A Passenger Train Meets With a Fatal Accident.

White Hall, N. Y., December 3.—Train No. 4 on the Delaware and Hudson railroad which left Montreal at 9.10 o'clock this morning bound for New York was thrown from the track one mile and a half north of the Port Henry tunnel at about 1.20 o'clock this afternoon. It was in charge of Conductor McLaughlin and the engineer was George Long. The train consisted of a mail and express car, baggage car, smoking car, emigrant car, passenger car and drawing room car.

The engine did not leave the track, but the tender and the mail and express car went crashing along an embankment and plunged into Lake Champlain. One end of the smoker also went into the water. The emigrant and passenger cars left the rails, but fortunately their momentum was checked and they remained on the bank. The drawing room car was only partially derailed.

The express messenger and the mail agent went down with their car and were drowned and several others narrowly escaped the same fate. A number of persons received injuries, and for a time great excitement prevailed.

The names of some of the injured passengers were not learned, but the list of casualties as far as obtainable is as follows:

Richard Quinn, of Ballston, N. Y., express messenger, drowned.

Samuel Rouse, of Rouse's Point, N. Y., mail agent, drowned.

James Coborne, of Green Island, baggage man; bruised; narrowly escaped being drowned.

James McLaughlin, conductor, of White Hall; slightly bruised.

George Place, extra baggage man; slightly bruised.

It is said that John Newell, the recently deceased president of the Lake Shore road was so opposed to the pass system that he declined to issue passes to railroad officials, which under the courtesies between railroad officials, had been the custom, and when he issued passes he limited such transporation to certain trains, so restricting the pass that but few railway officials have ridden on the fast mail or the limited trains of the road. On a recent New Years President Newell made up his packet of exchange passes and sent them out. Across the end of the one he sent President Caldwell was printed in red ink the words: "Not good on limited or fast trains," By return mail came President Caldwell's annual pass on the Nickle Plate to President Newell. Across the face, in flaring red ink and in the bold handwriting of President Caldwell, were written the words: "Not good on passenger trains." His pass was only good on freight trains.

Very Hopeful.

President Holt, of the Salt Lick oil and gas company, in a letter to interested gentlemen in this city this morning states that the drillers are now at a depth of 1,700 feet. They have passed through the red rock, which was 400 feet thick, and are now in gray rock and shale. Mr. Holt in the letter writes in a very enthusiastic strain, and says that these further favorable indications have so strengthened his confidence of success that he has leased all the surrounding tracks of land that he can get. The Standard oil company still manifest great interest in the progress of the well and send representatives to that locality every day.

Caused by a Gasoline Stove.

Altoona, Nov. 30.—Fire was discovered this afternoon in the barber shop of James better known as "Major" Crooker, in the rear extension of a building belonging to the Andrew Sprankle estate, 11th avenue and 16th street, this city. The building was damaged to the amount of $1,000, fully covered by insurance, but the most serious part of the affair was the burning of the "Major." It is thought that while drunk he overturned a gasoline stove starting the fire, and being burned so that he is expected to die.

Renovo Wants a Play House.

Renovo, with a population of nearly 5,000, is without a play house of the popular dimensions and wants a real opera house. A writer in the Record advances the opinion that the borough council could erect a building with propriety, and which would be a good investment, inasmuch as the borough officials and fire department could have rooms for meeting in the building.

Long Sentences For Bandits.

Fort Smith, Ark., 20—Thurman Balding alias "Skeeter," Jesse Snyder and William Ferris, members of the Cook gang, were this morning sentenced: "Skeeter" received 30 years, and Snyder and Ferris 20 years each. The house of correction at Detroit, Mich., is where they will serve their sentences.

A POOR HOUSE.

A Movement Worthy the Attention of Our People.

A project is on foot to establish a general poor house for Centre county, and a petition is being circulated among the overseers which, if signed by two-thirds of their number, will entitle the county to a vote on the subject at the coming spring election. That is, if two-thirds of the overseers sign the petition, it will be presented to court and an order will then be issued to submit the question to the people as above stated. Should the project fail to carry it can be again called up at the expiration of two years by a similar procedure.

In the event that the people should vote in favor of a poorhouse it will then become the duty of the commissioners to purchase a suitable tract of land and erect the necessary buildings. It will also be their duty to elect, at the first of each year, a suitable person as superintendent of the institution and a physician to take care of the sick and infirm. The commissioners are also expected to inspect the institution once a month and direct its management to keep a record of all accounts. The county treasurer will take care of the funds.

Bonds will be issued to defray the expenses incident to the purchase of the land, the erection of the buildings and the purchase of furniture, tools and machinery and give employment to the inmates.

The project originated with the overseers of the poor of Rush and adjoining townships. It has many arguments for and against it. Some districts that have comparatively no expense in maintaining their poor will naturally oppose it, while those upon whose hands this fund has become positively burdensome will welcome the change. As, for instance, Bellefonte annually pays sufficient money to sustain its poor fund to pay half the expenses of a county poor house if properly managed, but if such an institution were properly directed it would become almost self-sustaining within a few years.

Clearfield county last year voted almost unanimously for a poor house, and it would be well for the people of Centre to seriously consider the movement, and if there is any way in which we may be able to better care for the deserving poor and make the indolent, lazy louts work who, under the present system, are kept busy working to secure a living from the public without work, it should be adopted without a dissenting voice.—Gazette.

In Other Counties.

The public school pupils of Williamsport deposited $51,28 in one of the city banks last Friday. This school saving fund is a capital instution.

Farmers and a Sound Currency.

Secretary Morton, of the Department of Agriculture, is a case of the right man in the right place. He is a practical and not a theoretical farmer, with intelligence enough to see beyond the boundary line of his own farm and courage enough to declare his honest convictions, even though they are for the time unpopular with a large portion of those of his own calling and especially unpopular in the section from which he hails.

Secretary Morton's annual report bristles with the evidence of his mastery of the subject of the agricultural interests of the country, and its recommendations display his unflinching courage in expressing his convictions. After showing that three-fourths of the exports for the fiscal year were the products of agriculture, he analyzes the condition of the foreign markets and demonstrates that the wheat markets of Europe are being furnished largely from other sources than the United States, a condition that is likely to become permanent. This furnishes a reason for the low price of wheat that cannot be successfully refuted and gives vigorous emphasis to his own recommendations to the American farmers to grow less wheat and more of other products with which the foreign markets are not glutted.

His courage is combatting erroneous impressions and unsound theories is most strikingly exhibited in his demand that for prime pork and other prime American products the American farmer is entitled to prime currency—that is, to money worth one hundred cents on the dollar. No one has so strikingly put before the American farmers the argument for a sound currency, and it goes without saying that those who will give the subject of agricultural exports the same comprehensive study that he has given it will of necessity reach his conclusions.

The United States being an exporting country the export market will fix the prices of the principal products of the farms. Any financial policy which would result in requiring the farmers to accept a depreciated currency for the more than six hundred millions of farm products sold to other countries could only be inspired by folly, and it is a good thing that the office of Secretary of Agriculture is filled by a farmer with the sense and courage to call the attention of the farmers of the country to the folly of advocating a cheap and unstable currency.

Forest Fires in Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, November 30.—A special to the Evening Telegraph from Shamokin, Pa., says that destructive forest fires are burning on the Line and Henry mountains, and although every possible means to extinguish them is being made by the coal companies owning the land, the flames continue to rage. On the summit and sides of the Henry mountain are many openings leading into the workings operated by the Mineral Mining company, and this company had a score of men at work last night fighting the flames. The best the fire fighters could do was to keep the flames from spreading. On the Line mountain no headway could be made against the fire. It is apparent that the entire tracts of woodland on the mountains will be destroyed. How the fires originated is not known.

Beware of Ointments That Contain Mercury

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Barley is one of the most ancient of plants.

There are said to be over 600 varieties of wheat.

The first ancient author to mention rye was Pliny.

In India the cultivation of rice antedates history.

The earliest mention of oats in China is in A D 618.

Every language is said to have its own name for wheat.

Millet is prehistoric in South Europe, Egypt and Asia.

Oats were not known to the Hebrews or the Egyptians.

Fine flour composes about 80 per cent. of the grain.

Pliny mentions oatmeal as a favorite food of the Germans,

Maize has been found in the most ancient Peruvian tombs.

"Spurred rye" is one of the most deadly poisons known.

Spelt undoubtedly grows wild on the plains of Mesopotamia.

Spelt is a favorite grain in south Germany and Switzerland,

Wheat is believed to be an evolution from a mountain grass.

Maize has probably more enemies than any other species of grain.

The Swiss lake dwellers made more use of spelt than of wheat.

"Starch wheat" grown in Switzerland, has two grains to ear.

Barley is found mentioned on the earliest Egyptians monuments.

Some valuable use has been found for every part of the maize plant.

According to Pliny, the Roman wheat had ears with 100 grains each.

It is said that mules fed on corn that has the smut will lose their hoofs.

Rice is said to be the staple food of nearly one half of the human race.

A fair article of molasses can be made from the stalks of the common maize.

Millet is sowed by the Chinese emperor in a solemn ceremonial every year.

The Greeks had oats, B C 200, but used them only as food for their horses.

The native home of wheat is supposed to be the mountain regions of Armenia.

The China or tea wheat is said to have come from a grain found in a chest of tea,

The average wheat yield in England is said to be thirty six bushels to the acre.

Rye contains from two to five per cent. less of the nitrogenious principles than wheat.

Japan has developed a variety of maize with leaves beautifully striped with white. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

PINKHAM'S
Vegetable Compound
Is a positive cure for all those painful
Ailments of Women.
It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life. Every time it will cure Backache.
It has cured more cases of Leucorrhœa than any remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels Tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. That Bearing-down Feeling causing pain, weight, and backache, is instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the laws that govern the female system, and is as harmless as water. It removes Irregularity,
Suppressed or Painful Menstruations, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility. Also Dizziness, Faintness,
Extreme Lassitude, "don't care" and "want to be left alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy, or the "blues," and backache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, some derangement of the Uterus, or Womb Troubles.
The whole story, however, is told in an illustrated book entitled "Guide to Health," by Mrs. Pinkham. It contains over 90 pages of most important information, which every woman, married or single, should know about herself. Send 2 two-cent stamps for it. For Kidney Complaints
and Backache of either sex the Vegetable Compound is unequaled.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills cure Constipation, Sick Headache, 25c.

All druggists sell the Vegetable Compound, or sent by mail, in form of pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. Correspondence freely answered.

Going to Buy a Watch?

If so, buy one that cannot be stolen. The only thief-proof Watches are those with Non-pull-out BOWS.

Here's the Idea:

The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendent (stem) and fits into the grooves, firmly locking the bow to the pendent, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

To be sure of getting a Non-pull-out, see that the case is stamped with this trade mark. It cannot be had with any other kind.

Send a postal for a watch case opener to the famous Boss Filled Case makers.

FOSTER'S PREDICTIONS.

The Kind of Weather That we Are to Have Through Christmas Month.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm waves to cross the continent from Nov. 28 to Dec. 2 and Dec. 4 to 8. The next on its journey around the earth will reach the Pacific coast, near Seattle, about the 9th, cross the western mountains by the close of the 10th, the great central valleys the 11th to 13th and the eastern states about the 14th.

This will probably be a dry storm, its path by way of the upper lakes, north of the lower lakes, through Nova Scotia and south of Newfoundland. Light snows will fall north of the path and light rains south of it, accompanied by warm weather throughout the United States, followed by a moderate cool wave.

The warm wave will cross the western mountains about the 9th, the great central valleys about the 11th and the eastern states about the 13th. The cool wave will cross the western mountains about the 12th, the great central valleys about the 14th, and the eastern states about the 16th. My weather calculations for 1895 are now complete, and, in these bulletins, will be given about the last of each month the average temperature and rainfall for the month following. Correspondents promptly answered if stamps are remitted.

December, 1894, temperature and rainfall in the eastern states will be about the general average of the month for many years past. This does not apply to any one locality, but as an average to the states lying east of the Allegheny mountains. The same rule applies to all the divisions for which I give forecasts of rainfall and temperature.

The central portions of the United States are promised a warm December; the balance of the country an average temperature. Rainfall will generally be about or a little below the normal.

Two of the scoundrels who have raised sums of money in the United States under pretense of prosecuting the claims of alleged American heirs to the Townly estate, have been awarded a small portion of the punishment they deserve in a sentence to twenty months' imprisonment at hard labor by a London Court, the Judge remarking as he passed sentence that they had been engaged in about as vile a conspiracy as man could concoct.

The punishment of these two knaves should not only open the eyes of the fools who gave them good money to prosecute a worthless claim, but the eyes of all other fools who imagine themselves heirs to mythical foreign estates.

It is said of fools, however, that if brayed with a pestle in a mortar with wheat their foolishness will not depart from them.

Rev. Campbell Resigns.

Rev. D. H. Campbell has been pastor of the Presbyterian church at Mapleton and Mt. Union for ten years, and decennial services were held on the 23rd. ult. During the decade the membership of the Mapleton church has increased from 25 to 102; 99 were received on profession of faith and 25 on certificate. $7300 were contributed for all purposes. In the Mt. Union church 145 were received on profession of faith, and 66 on certificate, and membership has been increased from 111 to 213. The church has contributed to all purposes nearly $14,000.

The pastor has while in this charge of Mt. Union, Mapleton and formerly Shirleysburg, but now Newton Hamilton, preached 1620 times, has conducted 180 funeral services and assisted at half as many more, has married 74 couples, and has conducted two weekly prayer meetings besides doing a large amount of pastorial visitation. He has baptised 260 persons, 120 of whom were adults, and 478 new members have been received into these churches, of whom 345 were received on profession of faith. These have been busy and prosperous years in these churches. The pastor has been well sustained by efficient elders and many earnest and active Christian men and women, who have each done their part in helping to bring about this condition of spiritual prosperity. All honor in this is to the great Head of the church!

The Extinction of Deer.

The Philadelphia Record says: The advancement of the deer hunting season does not fail to offer renewed evidence of the necessity of some law to prevent the extinction of deer in Pennsylvania. Whatever the game is supposed to be, hunters by the hundred abound as usual; and unless some effort shall be made to prevent the continuance of this wholesale slaughter the extinction of deer in this state is sure to follow. Hunters as a rule approve of the enactment of a law to prohibit the killing of deer in Pennsylvania for several years and also for legislation that would confine the hunting of these animals to legitimate sportsmen.

FATAL COLLISION.

One Freight Ran Into Another During a Dense Fog.

Lockport, Pa., Dec. 2.—A serious collision, by which two persons were killed and one seriously injured, occurred near this place at 12.30 o'clock this morning. George W. Hull, a New Jersey Central engineer, whose home is in Jersey City, was sent out yesterday to bring in a special coal train from the mines. Shortly before reaching this town Hull was ordered to run on a siding, which he did, in order to let a fast freight pass. After the freight had gone by Hull started again, and when about half a mile from here he ran into the rear end of the freight train, which had stopped at a crossing to allow another train to pass. A dense fog prevailed and Hull was unable to see the lights of the freight train.

His engine was derailed and upset in a ditch, Hull being pinned under it. He was probably killed instantly. Lewis Gordon, his fireman, whose home is in Elizabethport, N. J., jumped in order to save himself, but broke both legs and will probably die. The caboose of the freight train was wrecked and set on fire by a lamp. While it was burning, Thomas Lukins, the conductor who resides at Bayonne, N. J., came back to ascertain the damage done, when a barrel of oil in the caboose exploded. The burning oil was thrown upon Lukens and he was burned to death before assistance could be rendered by the train hands. The money damage is not known.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Dec. 3, 1894.

From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Congress is with us again. And a very much sadder and a somewhat wiser Congress it is than it was when it adjourned last August. One who saw the ending of the last and the beginning of the present session and who was entirely ignorant of the intermediate occurrences would not need to be told that something important had happened, and the faces of the republicans and democrats would give him an excellent clue to guess what that something was. Proportionate to their number there was a better attendance of republicans in both House and Senate than of Democrats. A witty democratic member of the House prepetrated the following just after the demecratic chaplain had concluded his opening prayer: "I say," he said in a stage whisper, turning his head towards the member seated next to him, "that fellow has an almighty poor memory," "Why?" asked the gentleman spoken to. "Why; Why great Scott; he omitted to say a word about the great November catastrophe, just as though the loss of $5,000 a year by such an awful lot of us was an insignificant affair already forgotten. He should have given us a word or two of religious consolation we need it. The contemplation of the loss of his own job ought to have aroused his sympathy,"

If Mr. Cleveland really wishes to see the warring factions of his party in Congress get together amicably his wishes are not made apparent by a hurried reading of his message. On the contrary, the impression left upon one's mind is that he merely offers them a choice between accepting his views and being kicked out of the party, and that he doesn't care very much which they choose. Although there are mutterings of the coming democratic storm, and it will become more difficult to keep it from bursting after Secretary Carlisle's financial scheme, which is fully endorsed by Mr. Cleveland, has been submitted to Congress and has been fully taken in by the democrats, a majority of whom hold opposite views. The scheme in all its details in a part of Secretary Carlisle's annual report, which will, it is expected go to Congress to-morrow.

The honor of receiving the greatest ovation extended to any individual member of the House upon the opening day belongs to Hon. Thomas Brackett Reed, whose big face beamed with a sunny smile which was contagious and who fairly shook his elephantine sides when he was jocularly asked if he was ready to take the Speaker's chair. He was constantly addressed as "Mr. Speaker," by both republican and democratic members.

Some very ugly reports are again being circulated in connection with the names of Senators Gorman, Brice and Smith, and the sugar trust. It is charged that a double deal is now on catch the public both going and coming. The poor mouth the sugar trust is putting up is to stave off further Congressional legislation and also to force down the price of sugar stock held by those who are not in the deal, and in order to aid the speculation it is said that a great stir and pretense of adverse legislation is to be made in the Senate. Verily, the Fifty-fourth promises to be known in history as the sugar Congress; but there seems to be no probability of anybody's getting punished, except the poor public.

Senator Sherman does not as a rule bother himself about contradicting newspaper stories in which he figures, but he lost no time informing the public that there was no truth in the statement that he helped Mr. Cleveland fix up the financial portion of his message. He doesn't care enough about ordinary misrepresentations to run them down, but he draws the line at being charged with acting as financial adviser to Secretary Carlisle and Mr. Cleveland. He considers that an extraordinary misrepresentation.

Representative Cannon, of Ill., isn't a man of vindictive on revengeful nature, although when the occasion calls for them he can throw his share of oratorical brick bats. When asked whether the republicans would during this session taunt the democrats with their defeat, he said: "If they show us their scarified backs and ask us to do some rubbing I think we can find a little salt and water handy to touch up the sore spots. However, what with their apologies and explanations and finding fault with Cleveland I do not think the democrats will give us a chance to get in a word edgewise."

The calibre of Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet was never more forcibly demonstrated than by the annual reports which the members with the exception of Secretary Gresham who makes no report, have submitted. Of course nobody expects anything thrilling or exciting in these annual reports, but the public has a right to expect something better than the common place work which was put on them this year. There isn't a single department in which a score of minor officials could not be found who could, given the same facts to work on, produce in one week's time better constructed and more concise reports than those which have been signed by members of the Cabinet.

In Other Counties.

The diphtheria epidemic having abated in Milton, the schools of that place were reopened this morning.

The Huntingdon Local News has on exhibition a turnip weighs 14½ pounds. It was raised by M. R. Brenneman, of Union township, Huntingdon county.

Henry Grubb, an aged and respected citizen of Walker township, Huntingdon county, died on Wednesday of last week, in the 79 year of his age, He was a bachelor.

Early Saturday morning at Williamsport five teams narrowly escaped being plunged into the river, when about 100 feet from the shore at Penn street, by the ferry boat suddenly sinking. As the water was not very deep the horses were all removed to the shore in safety. The flat was examined when it was discovered that several holes had been bored in the bottom by some one.

Lock Haven Democrat, December 3: Another harrowing accident occurred at Farradsville today. About noon Reuben Hevner, resides with his parents in this place, attempted to jump a moving freight train. In some manner he made a miscalculation and was thrown on the track. The wheels of several cars passed over his body, mangling it in a frightful manner, A few men who saw the sad occurrence hastened to the young man's assistance. When taken from the track he was still alive. but shortly after breathed his last, The young man was 21 years old.

We learn from the Lock Haven Democrat that Cross Forks, Clinton county, was scourged by a disastrous conflagration early yesterday morning. About 3 o'clock flames were seen issuing from the upper story of Kenney's hall, and before the people could be aroused sufficiently to fight it successfully, the devouring element had destroyed the hall, the large store and stock of merchandise belonging to the Lackwanna company, the bording house of Mr. Bolich, the meat market of Ed Schmar, the postoffice and several dwelling houses. The fire is believed to be of incendiary origin. None of the buildings were insured except the company store.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, and in this way positively cures catarrh.

On a Saturday while T J Briggs was putting a new roof on his home in Shirleysburg, Huntingdon county, he accidentally left his hatchet fall and it struck his daughter Annie, who was in the yard, on the right arm, inflicting an ugly gash. It was a narrow escape from death, as the hatchet fell within a few inches of her head.

The Worst Case the Doctors Ever Saw

Hood's Sarsaparilla Perfectly Cured

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs:—I wish to testify to the great value of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For some time I had been troubled with scrofula, which early last winter assumed a very bad form.

and hands and gradually increased in number until they reached to my shoulder. The doctors said it was the worst case of scrofula they ever saw and also went so far as to say it was incurable. I tried ointments and other remedies but to no avail. A friend recommended Hood's

Sarsaparilla, and although I was completely discouraged, as a last chance I resolved to give it a trial. After taking one bottle I noticed the sores had commenced to heal. After the sixth bottle

They Were All Healed.

I continued to take it, however, until I had used nine bottles, and now I am perfectly well." MISS KATIE ROSENGRANT, Ulster, Penn.

FOR WEAK WOMEN.

A Discovery Of Priceless Value.

WHAT GIVES ONE WOMAN ADVANTAGE OVER ANOTHER.

How to be Master of Yourself and Look Your Best.

Shakespeare says: "He jests at scars that never felt a wound."

How often it happens that weak, nervous, suffering women are the subjects of ridicule by friends, who being well themselves, cannot understand such feelings in others. Yet there is no more terrible suffering than that resulting from nervousness, and it is the most prevalent of all complaints.

The most frightful tortures haunt the mind; the person is in constant dread of impending evil; sleep refuses to come, and the nearest trifles cause worry and anxiety. Thoughts of insanty develop, and the poor sufferer feels weak, tired and unable to do anything. There are sometimes, loss of appetite, coated tongue, and lack of interest in society and daily affairs. Female weakness, with pains in the side, back or abdomen, are often present. Miss Nettie Richards, of Livermore Falls, Main, says:

"For two years I had hysterics, and was fearfully nervous. I would have them every day and was in a terrible condition. My limbs were cold all the time. I could not sleep nights and had no appetite. My nerves were in a frightful state, and I was very weak.

"I could not walk but what it put me out of breath. I tried medicines and doctors, and they did me no good. One day a friend wished me to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"After taking three bottles of this wonderful medicine I was in perfect health. I think it a splendid medicine, and would advise everybody to try it."

To look well and feel well you want strong nerves and good blood. They are quickly, surely and permanently made by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is doing wonderful work among the sick and suffering. It will cure you also. You need just such a remedy.

It is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th Street, New York, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. You can consult him free, personally or by letter.

Use it in Time.

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat, and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrance. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh causing an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucous discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and often times discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for this trouble.

THE opening chapters in Professor Sloane's new Life of Napoleon in The Century are full of surprises to those who know of the youth of Napoleon only by a few well-know stories—like that, for instance, of the battle of the snow forts at Brienne. It is a new Napoleon that is here pictured, a devourer of books, an unsuccessful literary aspirant, an ineffectual Corsican political agitator—but the new Napoleon certainly makes the old Napoleon much more easily comprehended.

Fatal Railroad Wreck.

Flemington, N. J., Dec. 4.—A railroad wreck, in which a great amount of damage was done and a brakeman fatally injured, occurred early this morning on the Lehigh Valley railroad at Neshanic. About 4 o'clock a coal train, drawn by engine No. 412, stopped to take water at the tank. Soon afterward another coal train came up at a high rate of speed and crashed into the rear of the standing train. Twenty cars and the locomotive were piled in a tangled mass. Traffic was delayed five hours. Francis W. Steckel, a brakeman, was thrown down a deep embankment and so badly injured that he died this afternoon. The accident was caused by the carelessness of the crew of the stalled train in not sending a flagman back to give notice of danger.

THE SLEEP OF DEATH.

A Berks County Resident Passes to His Reward.

Reading, Pa., Dec. 4.—Daniel Keim one of the wealthiest citizens of Berks county, fell asleep in the Oley Reformed church, near his home, in Oley township, while attending the funeral services of a neighbor to-day, and never awoke. Heart disease is thought to have been the cause of his death. He was about 70 years of age, and an eccentric character hereabouts.

The body of Keim was removed to the house of Sexton Noll, adjoining the church and a brother of the dead man, Benjamin Keim, was sent for. When the brother arrived an unexpected complication arose. Noll positively refused to allow Keim's body to be removed from his house until he had been paid fifty dollars for allowing it to be taken there.

Keim was taken aback by the demand and refused to pay the money. With the undertaker he drove away and came here and consulted a lawyer. As a result of the conference a detective was sent to Noll's house this morning to have the body removed. At first Noll was inclined to resist the removal of the body, but when threatened with arrest, he ceased to intefere.

This Pays.

It pays everyone to follow the thousands who have accepted that remarkable free offer of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City, the most successful specialist in curing nerves and chronic diseases. He has established a system of free, letter correspondence, to tell the sick and suffering everywhere just what their trouble is, and how to get well. All you need do is to write him a letter, telling him your symptoms and how you feel. He will answer it, explaining your case minutely and giving all possible information. And for all this he charges nothing. It is the best opportunity you ever had to consult the highest authority, without leaving your home, and without payiny any fee.

He gives such careful attention to every letter, that you understand instantly just what ails you. He makes a specialty of treating patients through letter correspondence, and is having wonderful success by this method. It was the same successful physician who discovered that remarkable medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. The doctor's long experience and tremendous practice, enables him to thoroughly understand your complaint by writing him your symptoms. It is easy enough to try it, and it won't cost you anything. Write him to-day and it will probably be the means of your getting strong and well.

"Trust those who have tried."

Catarrh caused hoarseness and difficulty in speaking. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has caused, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, Att'y at Law, Monmouth, Ill.

I used Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh and have received great benefit. I believe it a safe and certain cure. Very pleasent to take.—Wm. Frazer, Rochester, N. Y.

Price of Cream Balm is fifty cents.

Pure blood is absolutely necessary in order to enjoy perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla purefies the blood and strengthens the system.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

The Golden Star
Gold Mining Company
OF MONTANA.

Capital $300,000 divided into 300,000 shares of $1 par value each.

Non-assessable forever.

This company owns two gold mines located in a county which produced $40,000,000 in gold in six years. Has 45 acres of virgin land. Has 500 feet of underground work in shape of shafts and tunnels. Has ore in sight worth $100 per ton. Has assays from $25 to $1,500 per ton. Has shipped ore netting $36 per ton. Has such a small capitalization, only 300,000 shares and not 2,000,000 shares as other companies.

The company intends to sink a shaft through this rich $100 ore vein to a depth of several hundred feet, in order to be able to produce largely for the benefit of the stockholders which will get this profit in large monthly dividends. Hence the company offers a small amount of its stock at the extremely low price of 40 cents a share.

These shares are the investment on the financial market to-day and are better than Government Bonds as they will pay bigger interest.

A Priest in Union Seminary.

New York, Dec. 3.—For the first time in the history of the Union Theological seminary, its lecture platform was occupied this evening by a Roman Catholic priest. Rev. Alexander P. Dole of the Paulist fathers. Charles A Briggs, professor of biblical theology, introduced the speaker who said:

I knew that the coming of a Catholic priest among you would be one more span added to that magnificent bridge that is being built in the age of religious toleration across the dark and muddy stream of religious intolerance.

Tedious Suffering Finds Relief.

Haverhill, N. H.—Many physicians have pronounced as incurable, diseases of the skin ane blood. Mrs. Hodsdon of this place abandoned the old school method and used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and was cured.

In October, 1890, and for a year after, Mrs. Hodsdon suffered from a disceased ankle bone. She has always been troubled with Salt Rheum which aggravated the disceased limb. Prescriptions and medicines of all sorts were used, but with no benefit. Dr, Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was tried, and it drove the poison out of her blood, healed the ulcerous sores, and restored Mrs. Hodsdon to health and strength.

Favorite Remedy cleanses the blood, and strengthens the nerves. In cases of scrofula and ralt rheum, it cures where all else fails.

Had Seven Husbands.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 3.—Three commissioners and a jury of 24 men to-day decided that Irene V. House-Redmond is not competent to manage her property. The verdict is that she is insane, but has lucid intervals. The inquiry was instigated by Paul F. Redmond, said to be her sixth husband.

Mrs. Redmond is in the county jail awaiting trial on a charge of assaulting Redmond when he visited a house in which she was living with Harry Carson, husband No. 7. Many witnesses testified to acts and conversations with Mrs. Redmond which showed that her mind was unbalanced. She loved Carson, she said, because he bore a likeness to the Saviour. She has an income of $2,000 a year.

You Should Get It.

Should get what? Why, The Rev. Irl R. Hicks' splendid Almanac for 1895. He has kindly sent to this office a copy of the same, and we speak advisedly in saying that it is a rare publication—the very latest and best of all that has emanated from the pen and brain and heart of this well-known friend of the public. The history of this man's work—now an open book to all America—and a casual glance at his Almanac for 1895, convinces us that this vitally useful and instructive book ought to find his way into every shop, office and home in the land. The price of the book—only 25 cents could not to our knowledge be invested for any one thing more profitably. It contains 84 pages, printed on fine book paper, with elegant covers in cols. It is for sale by all newsdealers. This fine Almanac is given as a premium to every yearly subscriber to the Rev. Irl R. Hicks' well-known and deservedly popular paper, Word and Works. This unique journal is a peerless educator of the masses, and is fast becoming a household guardian and necessity in the homes of America. Those who want to keep up with all the advanced thought of the age in science, religion and all social, commercial, intellectual and domestic subject should subscribe for Word and Works. Serious Mine Gas Explosion.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., December 3.—An explosion of gas occurred in the Dorrance colliery this afternoon. A number of miners were in the pit at the time and three of them were burned. The accident took place in the trial slope in the Baltimore vein and was caused by the separating of the wires of a safety lamp which one of the men was using. No damage was done to the mine beyond the breaking down of timber and doors. The men burned were: Alfred Peterson, a minor; Steven Vallo a laborer, and Edward Murphy a car driver, The two latter are in a serious condition and were sent to the hospital. Peterson was taken to his home.

State Board of Health.

Harrisburg, December 5.—Secretary Benjamin Lee, M, D., has submitted to Governor Pattison the annual report of the state board of health. It is stated that under the new law the number of borough boards of health has now reached 417 and that much good work has been done by these boards.

The importance of collecting correctly the vital statistics of the state is commented on and the inadequacy of the force in the department of internal affairs is referred to as being the only stumbling block in the way of perfecting this work. The wisdom of establishing an emergency fund to be used in the suppression of epidemics has been amply vindicated during the past year, especially during the floods of May 20.

The report urges that a liberal appropriation be made for the establishment of a thoroughly equipped chemical and Bacteriological laboratory under the direction of the board.

The board's report says that the pollution of the water supply continues to be a source of anxiety to the people of Philadelphia. Sixteen complaints have been received on this score, the principal being from Towanda, Naticoke, Carbondale, Reading and Philadelphia. Appropriate legislation to control this great evil seems as far in the dim future as when the board first began to urge it upon the attention of our legislators. Public opinion is, however, now becoming so enlightened upon the subject that the board may safely hand the agitation of reform in this direction to the people.

A STRIKE MAY FOLLOW.

Coal Miners May Again Be Called Upon to Go Out.

Columbus, O., December 5.—A movement has been placed on foot that may set aside the agreement between the coal operators and miners, by which the great strike was settled last summer. That agreement established a joint board of arbitrators which could be called together by either party, and if the terms of the agreement were not being generally observed declare the agreement void.

A number of operators in the Pittsburg district have so far refused to pay the scale agreed upon, and the other operators have been demanding that the miners force them to do so.

To-day Secretary McBryde, of the United Mine Workers, gave out the following correspondence between a prominent Pittsburg operator and himself:

"Pittsburg, Pa., December 4, 1894.—Patrick McBryde, Secretary United Mine Workers of America: Mr. Taylor and I, as arbitrators for Pittsburg operators, are instructed by unanimous resolution to ask for a meeting of the arbitration board to consider your failure to maintain scale rates in this district. Would like this meeting at Pittsburg next Monday morning, 10th inst. Please have such meeting called and advise [Signed] F. L. Robbins."

The following is the reply sent by Secretary McBryde:

"Columbus, O., December 4, 1894.—Dear Sir: In answer to your telegram of to-day it is utterly impossible to comply with your request as to a meeting on the date named. President McBride is confined to his rooms and I will be in Denver all next week. Were such not the case it would be impossible to get the board in Pittsburg on such short notice. Operators of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana will have to be notified to be present, and it is impossible to bring them together in Pittsburg by Monday next.

"Would advise that Cairns and yourself arrange for meeting on some other date.

"While we have no right to object to a meeting of the arbitration board, we do not acknowledge that the scale has not been complied with in accordance with the spirit of our agreement.

Respectfully yours,
"P. McBRYDE."

Poisoned Her Children.

Galveston, Tex., December 5.—Mrs. Louis Alberti, wife of a butcher, was arrested this morning at 2 o'clock at the instance of her relatives, on the charge of insanity. Her arrest is the result of the poisoning of her five children by her hand. Four of the children are dead. The fifth, a girl of 16 years, may recover.

Mrs. Alberti called her children into the dining room at about 6.30 o'clock yesterday evening and gave them some wine. While doing so Mr. Alberti stepped in from his butcher shop and asked her what she was doing. She replied that she was giving the children some wine and asked him if he wished some. He replied in the affirmative and she immediately changed the bottle and glass and gave him other wine. Mr. Alberti noticed this but paid no attention to the matter at the time.

After the father had gone out the mother told the children to go to bed. Before they could get to bed they were attacked with cramps and their cries brought their father to the scene. When he saw the condition of the children, he asked his wife, who was sitting with her hands folded and paying no attention to the sufferings of the children, what was the matter. She replied that she had put morphine into the wine, as she wanted to kill the children and herself, but that his coming in had prevented her from taking any of the poisoned wine.

Dear Public:

The People Have Made a Clean Sweep.

I am not the son of a prophet, but I wish to make a prediction.

DEAR PUBLIC:—I wish to make a prediction, to wit: It will be many, many moons before this great nation again monkeys with its business interests for the sake of a theory. You heard the song of the whipporwill in the "gloaming" of last Tuesday. The people made a clean sweep, but not more so than the Eureka Grocery, with their Groceries which are fresh and pure, sweeping away all competition. We keep only the best and guarantee all goods to be pure and wholesome. Much depends on what we eat, whether we are fat or lean. Our groceries cannot be beat—our broom sweeps clean, and it is fresh, pure and wholesome goods that sweep the platter in the grocery business when you sell them at fair prices. We have everything in the grocery line. Call and see, High St., next door to post office.

St. Nicholas
For Young Folks
Edited by Mary Mapes Dodge
FOR 1895.

The greatest year in the history of this magazine, now without a rival in its field, is the one just closing. Plans for the coming year assure even greater success than in the past.

RUDYARD KIPLING
wrote his famous "Jungle Stories" for St. Nicholas, and it is a welcome announcement that these will be continued in 1895.

NAPOLEON
FOR YOUNG READERS.
While the Century will have for its leading feature the new Life of the French Emperor by Prof. Sloane, one of the most popular of St. Nicholas writers takes his inspiration.

A Boy of the First Empire,
BY ELBRIDGE S. BROOKS, is the story of a little lad from the streets of Paris (but of good family), who renders a service to Napoleon, and becomes one of his pages and finally an aide. He is with him in the most critical times of his life,—at the departure for Elba, in the glories of the life at Fontainebleau, and finally at Waterloo. The story glows with pageantry, and is a truthful and accurate account based upon the best authorities and verified by the latest information of the life of "the man of destiny." It is really a delightful story-history of Napoleon.

WEST POINT AND MAN-OF-WAR LIFE
will racieve attention. Lieutenant Putnam writing of cadet life at the military academy while Ensign Ellicot, of the flag-ship "Chicago" will describe the experiences of our hardy seamen of the modern ships of war.

Inspiring Tales
FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.
Theodore Roosevelt will write a series to be called "Hero-Tales From American History" recounting famous deeds of heroism about which young people ought to know. Prof. Brander Matthews will include in his entertaining papers on "The Great American Authors" accounts of the lives of Bryant, Emerson, Longfellow, Hawthorne, Whittier, Poe and Lowell. Stories of famous horses in history and mythology—Bucepsalus, Napoleon's and Sheridan's horses, etc.—will be told by James Baldwin, author of "Stories From the Northern Myths." City fire departments will be treated, and there will be two or three papers on The Boys' Brigade. The serial stories will be many. One called "Chris and the Wonderful Lamp" recounts the wonderful adventures of a modern boy who became the accidental purchaser of Aladdin's lamp and summoned the jinn while cleaning it. A delightful story of college girls, "The Three Freshmen," will appeal to every girl; and "Teddy and Carrots," James Otis's serial of newsboy life, will be read by every boy. A serial story by Frances Courtney Baylor is one of the features.

PRICE of St. Nicolas is 25 cents a number or $3.00 a year. New subscriptions should begin with November, the first issue of the year. Subscribe through dealers, or remit by check, draft, or money order to

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.
In 1895

The Simpletons, a new novel by THOMAS HARDY, will be begun in the December Number, 1894 and continued o November, 1895. Whoever may be one's favorite among English novelists, it will be conceded by all critics that THOMAS HARDY stands foremost as a master artist in fiction, and The Simpleton may be expect d to arouse enthusiasm not inferior in degree to that which has marked Trilby—the most sucessful story of the year. Another leading feature will be the Personal Recollections of Jona of Arc, by the Sieur Louis de Conte. Her page and Secretary, under which guise the most popular of living American magazine writers will present the story of the Ma d of Orleans. In the January number will appear a profusely illustrated paper on Charleston and the Carolinas, the first of a series of Southern Papers.

North rn Africa is attracting more attention that at any other time since it was a seat of empires. The next volume of HARPER'S MAGAZINE will contain four illustrat d articles on this region, and three of them will depict the present life there. JULIAN RALPH will prepare for the MAGAZINE a series of eight stories, depicting typical phases of Chines Life and Manners. Besides the long stories, th re will begin in the January Number the first chapter of A Three Part Novelette, by RICHARD HARDING DAVIS—the longest work yet attempted by this writer. Complete short stories by popular writers will continue to be a feature of the MAGAZINE.

HARPER'S WEEKLY.
In 1895

HARPER'S WEEKLY is a pictorial history of the times. It presents every important event promptly, accurately, and exhaustively in illustration and descriptive text of the highest order.

The manner in which, during 1894, it has treated the Chicago Railway Strikes and the Chino-Japanese War, and the amount of light it was able to throw on Korea the instant attention was directed to that little-known country, are examples of its almost boundless resources. Julian Ralph, the distinguished writer and correspondent, has been sent to the seat of war, and there joined by C. D. Weldon, the well known American artist, now for many years resident in Japan who has been engaged to co-operate with Mr. Ralph in sending to HARPER'S WEEKLY exclusive information and illustration.

During 1895 every vital question will be discussed with vigor and without prejudice in the editorial columns, and also in special articles by the highest authorities in each department. Portraits of the men and women who are making history, and powerful and caustic political cartoons, will continue to be characteristic features. This busy world, with its keen and kindly comment on the lesser doings of the day, will remain a regular department.

Fiction. There will be two powerful serials, both handsomely illustrated—The Red Cockade, stirring romance of olden days by Stanley J. Weyman, and a novel of New York, entitled The Son of His Father, by Branders Matthews—several novelettes, and many short stories by popular writers.

COURT IN SESSION.

What Is Being Done in the Quarter Sessions.

Since our last report on Wednesday the following business has been done in the quarter sessions court :

In the case of the Commonwealth vs J L Showers, forgery, the prisoner plead guilty and was sentenced to a fine of $1, costs and imprisonment in the western penitentiary for a period of two years and eleven months. It will be remembered that Showers is the young man who passed forged checks on hotel keepers in various surroundings towns and was finally arrested in Olean, N. Y., on a warrant sworn out by Landlord Neubauer, the Brockerhoff House. He is but 19 years of age but by the time he has swallowed his present dose he will be old enough to know that "the way of the transgressor is hard.',

The next case taken up was that of the Commonwealth against William Garris, one of Bellefonte's policemen, charged larceny. The prosecutor was Mrs. Lydia Gibson, wife of I N Gibson, who alleged that on the night of the 20th of September, said policeman, having been called to watch th ook from off the stair steps a pocketbook containing $47. Mrs. Gibson's testimony was supported by that of her husband, who swore that he saw Garris take the pocketbook. Other testimony was submitted by the prosecutor's attorneys, district attorney Singer and J C Meyer, Esq., to in part substantiate the stories told by Mr. and Mrs. Gibson.

The defense was conducted by W F Reeder and W E Gray, Esqs. In his own behalf Mr. Garis testified that he was there on the night in question but emphatically denied having taken the money. The case went to the jury on the adjournment of court Thursday noon.

There was no court on Thursday afternoon. The grand jury completed their work that morning and made the following report :

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY.

To the Honorable A O Furst, President Judge, and Hon Thomas F Riley, and Honorable C A Faulkner, Associate Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Centre County.

The Grand Inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in the County of Centre, in all matters relating to it, very respectfully submit the following report:—

We have acted on all bills of indictment offered by the prosecuting attorney —thirty five in all—returning twenty five true bills, and ignoring four, six being recalled by the District Attorney, no witnesses appearing.

Several of the cases should have been disposed of by the Justice of the Peace having jurisdiction of the cases, and we deem it not out of place here to commend and endorse the very emphatic and vigorous protest recently made by the President Judge of this County against the practice indulged in by so many Justices of the Peace in our County, in sending to Court cases of the most trivial character.

The Grand Jury labored under considerable difficulty, and their labors were prolonged on account of nonattendance of witnesses when called

THE COUNTY PRISON.

We find the jail in proper condition so far as cleanliness is concerned, but improvement in ventilation is needed. We recommend that the cells be provided with new water-closets and wash basins. The floor repairing in several places—the same being rotted. We also recommend that some place be provided for the storage of the scaffold. We further recommend the removal of the shed in the corner of the jail-yard as it may facilitate the escape of prisoners. The roof of the jail-house needs repairs. The woodwork should be painted inside and out, and several of the rooms should be papered.

COURT HOUSE.

We would further recommend a new roof of modern style on the Court-House. We believe it would furnish three rooms-one for the Gaand Jury, one for the Traverse Jury, and one for witnesses—on the third floor. We recommend the changing of the stairs leading to the Court-Room in such a manner as to increase the capacity of the Court-Room and afford more office room on the first floor. We find that the Diterict Attorney's office needs a new floor —painted and papered. We find the other offices of the Court-House in fair condition.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

G. W. McGAFFEY,
Foreman.

FRIDAY MORNING.

On the convening of court the case of Cammonwealth vs Thomas Johnston and Lemuel Poorman, for malicious mischief, was called. The prosecution was represented by the district attorney and the defense by C M Bower, Esq. The action was brought by Mrs. Amanda Rote, of Coleville, who alleged that in last May at the time of the big flood, the defendants tore down the fence surrounding her property, and turned the flow of the Gap run out of its natural channel and across her lot, thereby entirely destroying her garden. This fact she proved by her son, Harry Rote, George Riter, Frank Leitzel, and Conrad Miller. A draft made by surveyor J H Wetzel, showing course of the run channel, was also offered in evidence. The case was still on trial when court adjourned until 1.45 o'clock in the afternoon.

The jury on the Garis case is still out, being out all of Thursday afternoon, Thursday night and all of this forenoon.

Weekly Financial Review.

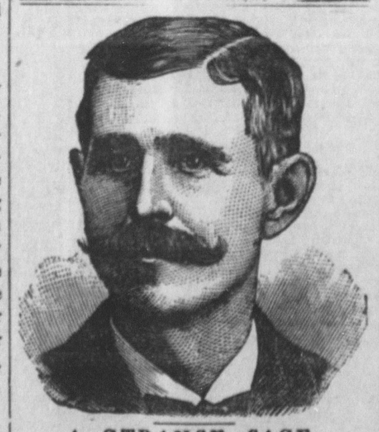
NEW YORK, Nov 24, 1894.

This temper of affairs has been encouraged by the reduction of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy dividend from 5 per cent to 4 per cent ; the effect of which was a fall of fully 2 points in the stock and nearly an equal sympathetic decline in the other Grange shares. The surprise is that the occurrence should have had such an effect upon prices. A reduction of dividends is naturally to be expected under such a state of business as has prevailed for many months, and a fall in the market value of stocks has already taken place in anticipation of that probability. The market, however, is not in a sanguine mood at the moment, and therefore the "bears" found it easy to use the C. B. & Q's reduction of dividend as a means of breaking prices.

Although the railroads are now doing a fair business, yet some of them have to take freight at low rates and, in the absence of any special "bull" factor, there is a disposition to let prices drift rather than make any special effort to advance them. The reception given to the new Government loan has not yet materially helped other securities. On the one hand, there is some diversity of opinion as to the necessity of contracting a new loan in such an awkward form to run for so long a period as ten years. On the other hand, the requirement that the subscription shall be paid in the form of gold has emphasized the discussion about money discrimination, which only increases the confusion on that question and is given to it an imaginary importance beyond what it really possesses. The effect of this sensitiveness about forms of money is, first, to emphasize the importance of the Treasury getting more gold, and, next, to increase the difficulty of its getting it. It cannot be said that this sort of confusion produces any real apprehension ; but it has created a certain uneasiness, and keeps the attention of the patient on the symptoms of his disease in a way that is unfavorable to recovery. Nor is the way out of this condition of slow financial fever as yet entirely open and clear. The large subscriptions to the loan will help to quiet this unrest and restore confidence ; but the political doctors are prescribing a long and tedious course of treatment to which the patient is to be subject as soon as Congress assembles. The Administration is understood to have it in contemplation to recommend a broad scheme of reconstruction of our currency system, its main points being the retirement of the Government legal tender paper and its substitution by a more elastic system of bank issues than that which now exists. There is perhaps no great division of opinion about the importance of some judicious revision of our monetary arrangements, and when it is all accomplished the results may prove very beneficial to the country at large. But this prospect introduces another new element of change ; and with change comes unsettlement and postponements about matters that anxiously await action and accomplishment ; and not a few take it grumblingly that having got off the tariff gridiron we should now be pitched upon the hot coals of currency reform. This new source of legislative uncertainty is one of the influences that is now acting unfavorably upon the stock market, and it must be assigned as one of the causes of the weakness of prices during the past week.

Landlord J. E. Neubauer, of the Brockerhoff House, is entertaining Mr. Geo. M. Vandyke, of the firm of L Keck & Co., Greensburg, Pa. Mr. Vandyke is an old friend of Mr. Neubauers.

—Appropriate Thanksgiving Day services were held in several of the churches on Thursday, but the attendance was not as large as it has been in other years.



A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recomendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

An Accidental Discharge of a Gun at a Thanksgiving Day Shoot Causes Havoc.

New Brunswick, N. J. Nov. 29.—By the accidental discharge of a gun during the Thanksgiving Day shoot at the East Side Rod and Gun club this forenoon two men were fatally injured and a third so seriously wounded that the surgeons say he will lose his sight. While the shooting was in progress Henry McCawley, a member of the club, was standing with a party of friends loading a gun, preparatory to taking his place at the traps. After placing the loaded shells in the gun he closed it with a snap. As the butt of the gun barrels struck the breech both shells exploded.

William Griggs, aged 28, a shoe manufacturer, who was standing nearest to McCawley, received almost the entire load of shot from one shell in his right temple and fell to the ground without uttering a sound. George Helsworth, 28 years of age, a ship captain, who stood near by, was also wounded in the right temple, and William Hoover received a partial load of the second shell in the face, several of the shot entering his eyes.

The wounded men were removed to Wells hospital, where at a late hour Griggs and Holsworth were said to be dying and that Hoover, if he recovered, would be blind.

The accident caused much excitement among the crowd of about 1,000 persons and many ladies fainted. No arrest has been made and McCawley, when he saw the accident in the hospital, was much overcome with grief.

A New Department.

So much has been said of late concerning the possible danger of introduction of such diseases as tuberculosis or consumption, diphtheria, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, etc., into the human system through the use of milk and cream from infected cows or from infected places, that a strong demand has sprung up for dairy products known to be free from possible contagion. To fit men to meet this demand the Pennsylvania state college has just completed arrangements for giving a course in milk and cream pasteurization and dairy bacteriology in connection with its dairy school this winter. Orders have already been placed for the necessary apparatus, and a trained specialist will have charge of the work. Students in the short course in agriculture may elect this study in preference to an equivalent amount of work in some other line by the approval of the faculty. These courses will open January 2 and continue six and twelve weeks respectively. Application for enrollment should be made as early as possible.

Millheim Murmurings.

Some heavy porkers were killed here this fall, Mr. Henry Duck having the heaviest porker so far, his largest having tipped the scales at 483 pounds, another one weighing 374 pounds. J. W. Stover killed two that weighed 930 pounds, and Adam Maize butchered one that weighed 389 pounds. Mr. Jonathan Harter butchered some nice large hogs on Wednesday, but he did not weigh them.

Miss Ida Breon, one of Millheim's finest young ladies, extended a very kind invitation to a few of her lady and gentleman acquaintances on Wednesday at noon to take dinner with her at the pleasant home of Mr. Jonathan Harter, on Penn street, Those present were Misses Rose Morris, Jennie Reifsnyder, Stella Zerby, Esta Smith and Mrs. John Huyett, and Mr. Robert Smith and the writer. The table fairly groaned with the viands thereon. It was a feast fit for a king.

Held Up a Train.

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 29.—The Southern Pacific passenger train, west bound, was held up at Elka at 12.30 this morning. About half a mile east of Elka two masked men crawled over the tender of the engine on the Southern Pacific road and ordered the engineer to stop the train. The engineer did as ordered. When the train came to a full stop the robbers ordered the engineer and fireman to get out of the cab. They ordered the fireman to go back and cut the train behind the express car. The robbers fired several shots. When the fireman went back to the express car he only cut loose the hose that ran to the coaches.

The robbers boarded the engine and tried to pull out, but could not. They left the engine and no more was seen of them. Bloodhounds have been telegraphed for and will be here in a few hours. Officers think they have a clue.

America and the Armenians.

Secretary Gresham is right in asserting that the United States has no direct interests or treaty obligations requiring it to protest against the Sassoon massacres. He is wrong in asserting that the Government can, therefore, do nothing. It is because the United States has and can have no territorial ambition in the East and no political designs that its protests and the influence and the influence of its representatives have had weight in the past in Turkey and before Europe. The United States owes a duty to civilization, and Secretary Gresham ought to discharge it by investigation into the massacres and by energetic protests.

Secretary Clay acted on this principle when he sent an American representative to Greece after the Scio massacre. Secretary Fish acted upon it at the time of the Bulgarian massacres. They were asserted by Russia. They were denied by Elliott, the English Minister. Mr. Eugene Schuyler, our Secretary of Legation, went to Bulgaria and made the reports on the subject, which Congress printed and which have become historic. They were quoted in Parliament, they were accepted as authoritative because an American could have no personal interest, and they played a conspicuous and honorable share in creating free Bulgaria.

Secretary Fish, in answer to Turkish complaint, was careful to disavow any desire on the part of the United States to interfere in Eastern affairs. In a telegram, widely quoted at the time, Secretary Fish cautioned Minister Maynard and Mr. Schuyler against involving the United States in interference in Turkish affairs ; but in the despatches which followed he pointed out that this did not prevent our representatives from informing themselves and their Government in regard to offenses against civilization. No one had any doubt where President Grant's and Secretary Fish's sympathies were and the position of our Government was of incalculable value to humanity.

A like situation has now arisen. It is not our business to interfere directly. We have no interests in Turkey but the protection of our citizens and the promotion of civilization. But a report, stating the facts, giving both sides of the case by an American representative, would be accepted by Europe and the world as impartial and its influence on public opinion would be decisive. If Secretary Gresham will follow the example of those who have preceded him in his action on Turkish affairs he will discharge his duty to humanity without involving the American people in foreign affairs, in which they have no concern.

Points Strongly to Murder.

From what he learned while investigating the mysterious death of his brother at Johnsonburg, W R Peoples, Esq., of Jersey Shore, is fully convinced that he did not meet death at his own hands, and states that the matter will be sifted down and an effort made to find the guilty parties. His belief is based on the fact that his health was good, that all was right in the bank, that he called on the young lady of his choice the evening before, presented her with a diamond engagement ring and seemed happy, and that the physicians are positive that either shot would cause instant death, therefore, he could not fire the second shot. It is certainly a mysterious and sad affair.

The Armory Dedication.

Everybody is requested to bear in mind that the dedication of the new armory is not two weeks off, being on Friday, Dec. 14th. It will be one of the greatest occasions, especially in military circles, that has been known for many a year in Bellefonte. There will be over a hundred military men here from all over the state, and from every department of the National Guard. It will be a great day for everybody, but more especially for company F, which will be going into the handsomest home it ever occupied.

Garis Acquitted.

The jury in the case of the Commonwealth against Policeman William Garis, after being out over twenty-four hours, returned a verdict of "not guilty." This disposes of the case all but the costs, and the purse strings of the tax payers will be opened to meet this little item.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Thomas Johnston and Lemuel Poorman, the Court instructed the jury to return a verdict of "not guilty" as the prosecutrix had no grounds for a case. This was the last on the list of criminal cases, and some of the civil list was then taken up.

GOVERNOR PATTISON.

Considering What He Will Say in His Message.

Harrisburg, December 2.—Governor Pattison is at work on the outline of his biennial message to the legislature. The governor will refer to the successful operation of the amended ballot act and will recommend such charges as in his judgment will make it nearer perfect. He will doubtless endorse the suggestions made by Secretary Harrity in his report, which is now in the hands of the state printer, that the law be amended so as to provide for a specific form of official ballot, but blanks for certificates of nomination, nomination papers and the form of oath attached to these papers.

Special reference will be made to the large increase in the state revenues the past two years and the steady liquidation of the public debt. He will advocate the necessity of the preservation of the state forests and for non-pollution of water supply of the Commonwealth.

The National Guard will be commended for its efficiency, as shown at the division encampment at Gettysburg last summer and during the riots in the bituminous regions.

The government will urge upon the legislature the necessity of a law providing for the establishment of township boards of health, with powers similar to those of cities and boroughs.

Mention will be made of the relief which has been made to the once overcrowded state insane hospitals by the establisement of a hospital for the chronic insane at Wernersville, and of the good which is expected to come from the erection of the state institution for feeble minded children at Polk and the industrial school for soldiers' orphans at Scotland.

The government will commend the efforts of the state board of agriculture. The grange and kindred organizations to secure the passage of an act by the next legislature to prevent the spread of tuberculoels among the domestic cattle.

Death of Dr. W. F. Musser.

Especially sad and distressing is the death this morning of Dr. W. F. Musser, one of Tyrone's popular and esteemed young men, in that it not only takes from a life of promise one who will be greatly missed in his large circle of friends but above all that he leaves widowed her who less than two months ago, surrounded by all the brightest prospects of youthful expectation and ambition, became his bride, their life together opening with most cheerful outlook for a happy future only to be broken into when it had scarce begun by the unrelenting hand of death.

The deceased was taken ill three weeks ago, and his illness developed into a severe form of pneumonia. Never of a robust constitution he could not withstand the serious attack, and despite the most tender and constant nursing by loving ones, and the best medical attention and advice, he sank into the last sleep that knows awakening only in the better world beyond the grave. Death came to relieve him from earthly suffering at 3 o'clock this morning.

William Franklin Musser, son of Samuel and Nancy Musser, was born at Marengo, Centre county, October 29, 1860, having reached therefore the age of 34 years, 1 month and 1 day at death. He early manifested a desire to pursue the study of medicine, and entered Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia, from which he was graduated in the class of 1891. He practiced his profession for some time at Edgewood and Williamsburg, coming from the latter place to Tyrone in June, 1893, and received ample encouragement in his practice here he had decided to make Tyrone his permanent home. He resided on Twelfth street where he also had his office. Dr. Musser was an estimable young man, a thorough christian, being consistent and devout in his membership of the First Presbyterian church. He was also a member of the Bellefonte Lodge Free and Accepted Masons.

On October 10 last Dr. Musser was united in marriage to Miss Edith Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elias R. Moore, in Scotch Valley, near Williamsburg. His heartbroken wife survives to mourn the loss of a loving and devoted husband. Also surviving him are his parents and the following brothers and sisters : Mrs. John Reamy and Mrs. Emory E. McClintick, Tyrone ; Mrs. L. M. Howser, Mrs. W. VanTries, Pennsylvania Furnace ; Edward R. and Marshall, Cambria county ; I. M., ticket agent at Scotia ; Walter, who is a medical student in Philadelphia ; Bella B. and Howard, at home, Pennsylvania Furnace.

Lost $5,000.

On Saturday of last week Patrick Shields, of Houtzdale, a passenger west bound on a Beech Creek train, was so unfortunate as to lose his purse containing notes and money to the amount of five thousand dollars. J. O. Giles, the trainman, accidentally stumbled upon the missing purse after reaching Williamsport and notified Mr. Shields by telegraph.

THAT INCOME TAX.

Carlisle Has the Regulations on His Desk at Washington.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Secretary Carlisle has upon his desk the completed regulations as prepared by Superintendent Pugh on putting the income tax into effect. He will give them consideration probably next week. The regulations are very voluminous as they now stand and provide as far as can now be foreseen for every conceivable question that may arise in the execution of that law.

Two forms are provided, one for the return of the income of individuals and one for the return of corporations. The latter forms provide for every kind of corporation taxable under the law. A curious feature of the law is the section that directs that "profits realized within the year from sales of real estate purchased within two years previous to the close of the year, for which the income is estimated," shall be subject to taxation. What constitutes "profits and gains" in the eye of the law is a question that treasury officials fear will prove perplexing. As during the present fiscal year there will be only six months' expenses to be incurred from January 1, 1895, to June 30, 1895, in carrying out the law, it is probable that Secretary Carlisle's urgency estimate on account of the income tax will not be more than $300,000, but that appropriation for the next fiscal year, when the law will be in full operation, it is expected will reach $400,000 or perhaps more. So far but $700 of the appropriation of $9,000 for putting this law into effect have been expend-

CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

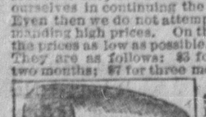
Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. Weask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a post-l eard and a two cent piece for stamp. The posal card to be used in send us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for use. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $5 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.



These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

THE JAPANESE ARE BRAVE.

No Foolishness Over the Conducting of the Campaign.

Victoria, B. C., November 30.—The steamer Victoria arrived here this morning bringing Japanese advices to the 16th inst. From these it is evident that the commanders of the Japanese forces on land and sea had planned their attack on Port Arthur wisely. The attack, to the very day and hour, was made in accordance with the theoretical carrying out of the campaign planned by the respective commanders days before. It now remains to be seen whether or not other detail of the war will be as faithfully carried out, even to the occupation of Pekin, which is to be the crowning triumph of Japan's progress in China. An example of what heroic qualities are required in such an expedition as Japan has undertaken is furnished by an incident of the crossing of the Yula river on October 12. The engineers reached the Yula river, when they cast about for the best point of constructing a bridge. The first thing to be done was to sound the water. The other side was in possession of the enemy. Great care had to be taken to avoid alarming the enemy and night time was chosen for the sounding, which rendered the undertaking much more difficult to accomplish. In sounding, a rope must be carried to the other side and some one must cross the river to carry and fix one end of the rope. A soldier named Kunitara, a noted swimmer, offered to undertake the service. He sprang into the water and began to wade across, but before reaching the other side was frozen and disabled from swimming. Every effort was made from shore to save the hero but in vain. He was drowned and drifted to the other side. Seeing this, Sergeant Hyokich jumped in and ordered another soldier to follow him with a rope and both arrived safely on the other side. The preparations for sounding the water were thus completed. The fact that the Japanese army easily crossed the Yalu river was owing to the heroism of these three men.

Civil Service Extension.

Washington, Nov. 30.—That the President is about to extend the civil service to the internal revenue service is further evidenced by the fact that at the Treasury department clerks are preparing lists of storekeepers and gaugers in the service in every district, with the view, it is understood, of forwarding them to the civil service commission.

The President has not yet determined exactly what will be included, but it is certain the storekeepers and gaugers will be. He had thought of including the deputy collectors, as well, but as they often handle money, and as collectors who give bond for the proper payment of collections to the treasury, want men they personally know to be trustworthy, it is believed to be unlikely that the President will so embarrass collectors by compelling them to continue men in the service who handle money in whom they have not entire confidence.

Embezzler Seely Indicted.

New York, Nov. 30.—Ten indictments were handed in to-day by the grand jury against Samuel C. Seely, the defaulting bookkeeper of the Shoe and Leather bank, alleging forgery and grand larceny. All were found on the evidence of Cashier Van Vleck. Bench warrants were issued and given to the central office detectives.

A further examination of the papers of Frederick Baker, the supposed suicide and accomplice of Seely, failed to reveal any connection between Baker and Seely.

Seely is reported to be in Canada, but his attorney denies this.

—Bellefonters now have the benefit of three musical organizations in the band line, namely, the Bellefonte, Undine and Coleville bands. All of these organizations were out in full force on Thanksgiving day and gave concerts in the diamond, as well as various other portions of the town, and it is almost needless to say, the music was very much enjoyed by the large crowd who braved the raw atmosphere of the day to test the playing qualities of each one of them. It can easily be said that they all made good music and are to be congratulated on their proficiency. But, while listening to them the thought occurred, what a band it would make if all these musicians were consolidated or combined into one organization, making about fifty players in all. What a tooting there would be then.

—Mr. Lewis E Beitler, Gen. Hastings' privrte secretary, returned on Saturday evening from a two days' trip to Philadelphia. He was accompanied by his wife.

Of Bread.

e act of 1794, which has never been repealed, provides that bread shall be sold by weight. In view of the recent agitation about the size of a loaf, a reference to this law is appropriate, and it is herewith given:

"All loaf bread made for sale within this Commonwealth shall be sold by the pound avoirdupois; and every baker or other person offering the same for sale, shall keep at his or her house, or at such other place at which he or she shall at any time offer or expose for sale any such bread, sufficient scales and weights, lawfully regulated for the purpose of weighing the same; and if any baker or other person shall sell or offer for sale any loaf of bread, in any other manner, the contract representing the same shall be void; and the person offending against this act shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars for every such offense, one half to the use of the informer, and the other half to the use of this Commonwealth; and it shall be the especial duty of the clerk of the market, in any place where such officer is appointed, to discover and prosecute all persons offending against this act."

A Family Reunion.

At the home of Register G. W. Rumberger, on Bishop street, there was an unusually happy gathering on Thanksgiving Day, it being the occasion of a general family reunion. All of Mr. and Mrs. Rumberger's children were at home, there being Mrs. Joseph Benger and Mrs. Edward Griest, with their families, of Unionville; John C. Rumberger, of Salona; George, baggage master at Philipsburg; Harry, clerk with Deininger & Co., of Philipsburg; and William, book-keeper with Platt, Barber & Co., at Dubois. They all spent the day at home eating Thanksgiving turkey and enjoying themselves as only persons can on such occasions, but departed for their respective homes in the evening. During the day Charles Moore went to the house and took a picture of the family group.

—On Tuesday, December 11th, the Christian Endeavor Society of Bellefonte will hold a fair in the Presbyterian chapel on Spring street. There will be fancy work of all kinds, candies, fruits and various articles suitable and proper for Christmas presents. Just the time and place to go to lay in a good supply. There will be articles suitable for children, of all ages and sizes. Everybody is cordially invited and strongly urged to be present.

BEFORE I could get relief from a most horrible blood disease, I had spent hundreds of dollars TRYING various remedies and physicians, none of which did me any good. My finger nails came off, and my hair came out, leaving me perfectly bald. I then went to

HOT SPRINGS

Hoping to be cured by this celebrated treatment, but very soon became disgusted, and decided to TRY S.S.S. The effect was truly wonderful. I commenced to recover after taking the first bottle, and by the time I had taken twelve bottles I was entirely cured—cured by S. S. S. when the world-renowned Hot Springs had failed.

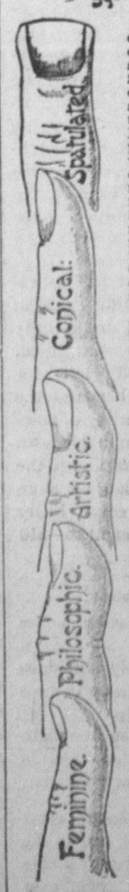
WHAT YOUR THUMB TELLS.

Square Type.



The thumb is an unfailing index of character. The Square Type indicates a strong will, great energy and firmness. Closely allied is the Spatulated Type, the thumb of those of advanced ideas and business ability. Both of these types belong to the busy man or woman; and Demorest's Family Magazine prepares especially for such persons a whole volume of new ideas, condensed in a small space, so that the record of the whole world's work for a month may be read in half an hour. The Conical Type indicates refinement, culture, and a love of music, poetry, and affection. A person with this type of thumb will thoroughly enjoy the literary attractions of Demorest's Magazine. The Artistic Type indicates a love of beauty and art, which will find rare pleasure in the magnificent oil-picture of roses, 16½ x 24 inches, reproduced from the original painting by De Longpré, the most celebrated of living flower-painters, which will be given to every subscriber to Demorest's Magazine for 1895. The cost of this superb work of art was $250.00; and the reproduction cannot be distinguished from the original. Besides this, an exquisite oil or water-color picture is published in each number of the Magazine, and the articles are so profusely and superbly illustrated that the Magazine is, in reality, a portfolio of art works of the highest order. The Philosophic Type is the thumb of the thinker and inventor of ideas, who will be deeply interested in those developed monthly in Demorest's Magazine, in every one of its numerous departments, which cover the entire artistic and scientific field, chronicling every fact, fancy, and fad of the day. Demorest's is simply a perfect Family Magazine, and was long ago crowned Queen of the Monthlies. Send in your subscription; it will cost only $2.00, and you will have a dozen Magazines in one. Address W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, Publisher, 15 East 14th Street, New York. Though not a fashion magazine, its perfect fashion pages, and its articles on family and domestic matters, will be of superlative interest to those possessing the Feminine Type of Thumb, which indicates in its small size, slenderness, soft nail, and smooth, rounded tip, those traits which belong essentially to the gentler sex, every one of whom should subscribe to Demorest's Magazine. If you are unacquainted with its merits, send for a specimen copy (free), and you will admit that seeing these THUMBS has put you in the way of saving money by finding in one Magazine everything to satisfy the literary wants of the whole family.

The CENTURY IN 1895.

Taking advantage of the general revival of interest in the Great Emperor, The Century will print during 1895

A NEW LIFE OF

NAPOLEON,

MAGNIFICENTLY ILLUSTRATED.

The Century is famous for its great historical serials, and never in its history has a greater one been projected than this new "Life of Napoleon," written by Prof. William M. Sloane, of Poncton, who has spent many years in preparation for his work. Thus far no biography of "the man of destiny" has appeared in either English or French that is free from rancor and attentive to the laws of hishorical criticism. The Century has secured—the great all-round complete and interesting history of he life of one of the most marvelous of men. No matter how much you already know of Napoleon, you will want to read this;—here is the concentration of all the lives and members. The illustrations will be magnificent—the wealth of the Century's art department will be lavished upon them. Two members of the staff have just returned from Paris, where have been securing all that is best of Napoleonic material. New portraits will be printed, great historical paintings reproduced, and Castaign and other modern artists have drawn anew some of the great scenes of Napoleon's life for this history.

In addition to this there will be

A NEW NOVEL BY

MARION CRAWFORD.

The title is "Casa Braccio," and it is a romance of Italy full of human passion and exciting episode.

A NEW NOVEL BY

Mrs. Burton Harrison

will be published during the year. It is called "An Errant Wooing," and is a tale of wandering (and love) among new scenes of travel in Northern Africa and Southern Spain.

OTHER FEATURES

will be several familiar papers on "Washington in Lincoln's Time," by Noah Brooks, who was on terms of unusual intimacy with the war president; "The Cathedrals of France," by Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer, with illustrations by Joseph Pennkil. Many more serials will be announced later.

RUDYARD KIPLING

contributes his first American story to the December number of the Century.

THE PRICE of the Century is $4.00 a year. "No home is complete without it." Begin subscriptions with November number. Whatever other magazines you may take, you must have the Century. All agents or dealers take subscriptions, or remittance may be made directly to

—And the grading of Curtin street still continues

—Bellefonte may yet revert to the use of oil lamps for street lighting purposes.

—The foot ball season is ended and the list of casualties will now rapidly diminish.

—And the county fair is still a booming. Over ten thousand dollars have already been subscribed and the prospect now is certain for a fair.

—The Gentzel—Horner hunting party departed on Wednesday for a trip to the Green Woods. This will be their second week's outing for deer.

—The Logan Steam Fire company of this place have placed an order with Geo. Evans & Bro., of Philadelphia, for new uniforms, consisting of overcoats, caps and belts.

—Cut the rose bushes back and cover them by wrapping straw around them, hilling them up to turn water off. If the climate is not too severe, for some varieties simply hill around them.

—It was only a fair house that listened to the rendition of "Kentuck" in Garman's opera house Tuesday night, but those who were there were highly delighted with the character of the play.

—If you have not already planted your holiday crop of advertising, you should do so at once. It pays to advertise, and the best medium for Bellefonte and vicinity is the Daily News. Try it once and see.

—Don't forget that you can get a good turkey dinner at the Y. M. C. A. rooms Wednesday and Thursday evenings December 19th and 20th. It will be given by the ladies of the United Brethren church. Everybody is invited to attend.

—A very interesting session of farmer's institute was held at Port Matilda Tuesday under the auspices of the State Board of Agriculture. Many subjects of vital importance to the farmer were discussed by able speakers of this and other counties.

—Governor-elect Hastings on Monday appointed James M. Auter, of Harrisburg, as messenger to serve him during the four years of his term as governor. Mr. Auter was Mr. Hastings' messenger when he was Adjutant General under Gov. Beaver.

—Prof. Henry Meyer, ex-county superintendent, has about completed and almost ready for the press, a history of the "Meyer family" in this county. It will be a work of some 300 pages, prominently illustrated, and will be comprehensive throughout.

—The ladies of the U. B. church will give a turkey dinner and oyster supper in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 19th and 20th. Everybody come and help along by your patronage. Dinner tickets only 25 cents, Supper tickets 25 cents. Do not forget the time and place.

—Charles Meyer and Stanley Rhine, the two young men who plead guilty to having stolen the horse of Michael Strohm, at Centre Hill, were on Monday sentenced to the Reformatory at Huntingdon, and on Tuesday morning they and young Pennington, convicted of stealing a watch, were taken to that place by the Sheriff.

—Don't forget the fair and lunch to be held in the Presbyterian chapel next Tuesday evening, December 11th. The young people having the same in charge will have everything nice for Christmas presents, and everybody is cordially invited to go there for what they want. Don't forget the time, Tuesday evening, December 11th.

—Clarence F. Huth, of Shamokin, State President of the P. O. S. of A., and William Weand, of Philadelphia, State Secretary, will lecture in the court house in Bellefonte on Monday evening, December 10, 1894, on the objects of the order. Everybody is invited to attend—men, women and children. The lecture will be free to all.

—There seems to be a series of damage cases against boroughs of late. Philipsburg recently lost on and now have another big one pending; Bellefonte borough has just paid out near seven hundred dollars, and it is not many years since Milesburg had a similar experience. Verily, it would pay boroughs to keep their pavements in a first-class condition.

—It wont be long now until Mr. B. C. Achenbach will have moved his bakery and confectionery from its present location on Bishop street to the stone house on Allegheny street now owned by Mr. Allison. This will be quite an innovation for that part of Bellefonte, but we have not the least doubt but that it will be a better location for Mr. Achenbach.

—Governor-elect Hastings and his private Secretary, Mr. Beitler, indulge in horseback riding as a means of proper recreation, on Monday they journeying four miles out in the country and back again. The public can imagine the snap the General has when it is known that he has received five thousand applications for appointment to one office. All applications have been read and properly filed for future reference.

DOINGS IN COUNCIL.

Not Much Business, but a Big Grist of Bills.

Council convened at 7.30 o'clock Monday evening with members Gerberich, Williams, Hillibish, Beaver, Brockerhoff, Bush, Garman present and President Miller in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the clerk Isaac Mitchell and approved as read.

Mr. Maloney, of the Pennsylvania Gas Globe company, Philadelphia, was present to show to council a naptha gas lamp of 20-candle power. The lamp was there also, and burning in full force producing a bright, clear light.

The Street committee reported the continuation of the grading on Curtin street, as well as numerous repairs made in different parts of the borough.

The Water committee reported the much-talked-of McCalmont leak as fixed, also numerous other leaks repaired. About four hundred feet of pipe has been put down on Logan street giving good supply in that portion of the town. The new pipe has greatly improved the service in all parts of the town.

The Fire and Police committee reported the change in the lights as requested by the Undines made. Report was also made of the very bad condition of the Logan Hose house.

Nuisance committee had no report to make. The Market committee reported fifty cents market fees collected. The Finance committee reported a balance due the treasurer of $4,574.43.

Burgess W. E. Gray was present to ask permission to purchase new winter uniforms for the borough police. The Burgess was authorized to purchase said uniforms and also to have the stove in the lockup repaired.

The Water committee was authorized to change the location of same and lower the water pipe on East Curtin street as in their judgment seems best.

With the approval of the following bills council adjourned to meet next Monday evening, December 10th, at 7.30 o'clock.

Don't Worry.

Worrying is killing. It is bad management that kills people. Nature will let no man overwork himself unless he plays her false, unless he takes stimulant at irregular times, smokes much or takes opium. If he is regular and obeys the laws of health and walks in the way of physiological righteousness nature will never allow him or any other person too hard. I have not yet seen a case of breaking down from overwork alone, but I admit that it is necessary above all things to cultivate tranquility of mind. Try to exercise your mind in regard to this—for will counts for something in securing tranquility—to accept things as they are and not to bother about yesterday, which is gone forever, not to bother about to-morrow, which is not ours but to take the present day and make the best of it. Those women who will continually peer into what lies beyond never have any present life at all—they are always grizzling over the past or prying into the future, and this blessed today, which is all that we are sure of they never have.

Tramps to Be Arrested.

Judge Metzgar has ordered the arrest of all tramps found begging in Lycoming county, and have them returned to court under the vagrant act of 1879. This action has been deemed necessary to suppress the tramp nuisance in that county. So bold have the tramps become that people were subjected to many annoyances by their importunities. Even Judge Metzgar himself has been stopped three times within a week on the street, in Williamsport, by able bodied men, all of whom asked for money. One even had the audacity to follow the judge for quite a distance.

How to Hunt Rabbits.

An experienced hunter says: "A curious thing about a rabbit is that it always faces the sun, turning around slowly all day to do so. In hunting them in fields this should be kept in mind and the ground be gone over with his back to the sun. He can see the eyes of the rabbits in the bushes and they will glitter like diamonds in the sunlight.

Clearfield Coal Company Miners.

The coal and coke plant of the Clearfield coal company at Tyler, near Penfield, is running prosperously now. One hundred and thirty-eight miners are working every day at forty-five cents gross. The superintendent says if the company had kept a large contract which they had for a half year's output there would be no wage reduction.

—Since the removal of the Cash Bazaar from its location on Spring street down into the Bush Arcade Mr W. T. Meyer has found a very decided increase in business. His trade has increased even beyond his most sanguine anticipations. This is because the location is a better one, but principally because the people of Bellefonte are finding out that the Cash Bazaar is the place to go for the best line of Christmas goods.

In Other Counties.

The Cambria county court is in session this week.

Wild turkeys seem to be numerous in Perry county.

Westmoreland county will ask for an additional law judge.

Counterfeiters are plying their nefarious industry in Johnstown.

Perry county's pretty school ma'ams are the centre of attraction in New Bloomfield this week.

A sneak thief got away with $10 from the residence of James P. Laird, of New Bloomfield, the other day.

Thomas J. Bowen, of Marysville, an employe of the Pennsylvania railroad, was caught under a car a few days ago and terribly injured.

Miss Alie Houp died with typhoid fever at her home near Cove Station, Huntingdon county, on Tuesday, the 27th ult, in her 22d year.

Mrs. John Saylor died at her home in Case township, Huntingdon county, on the 30th ult., in the 71st year of her age, after a long and painful illness.

Two Indian boys who ran away from the Carlisle school were caught along the railroad above Huntingdon on Sunday and returned to the institution.

There is a great revival in progress in the Methodist Episcopal church at Philipsburg, Dr. A R Miller, pastor. Up to the close of last week there had been fifty-seven conversions.

S Jackson, of near Beatty, Westmoreland county, was struck by eastern express od Saturday night at that place and instantly killed. It will be remembered that his wife was killed near the same place a few months ago.

The station on the Ebensburg branch of the Cambria and Clearfield division of the Pennsylvania railroad, heretofore known as Bradley station, has been changed and in the future will be known as Winterset. The station in question is situated four miles from Ebensburg and is the highest point on the entire road.

Frank Brinkley, who was shot twice in the back on Thursday, November 15, by Mrs. Elizabeth McCoy during a quarrel between Brinkley and Mrs. McCoy's husband at Central works, died Monday morning from the wounds inflicted and thus another murder is added to the long list committed in Westmoreland county.

This is a picture of the seamy side of life in Johnstown, as painted by the Democrat: Beastly drunk, her clothes covered with blood which flowed from an ugly lacerated wound on the right wrist, her face dirty and scratched and one eye black was the condition of Annie Edwards when taken to the central police station.

The stable of the Berwind White Coal company at Dunlo, Cambria county burned to the ground Saturday night. The loss is estimated at $2.000. Seven mules were cremated, it being impossible to get them out after the fire was discovered. The stables were used exclusively for the housing of the mules and horses of the company. The fire is thought to have been incendiary origin, as several tramps were noticed about in the evening.

While unloading a load of paper wood at the Puckey & Co's coal and wood yards at Rockhill, Huntingdon county, on Monday, the team of William Shope, of Blacklog valley, became frightened at the blowing of the noon railroad shop whistle and the lead horses started a runaway, the rest following. The lead horses tore loose and attempted to cross the railroad bridge over the creek, falling between the ties and breaking a leg of one of the animals. The other portion of the team was stopped near the depot.

From Base Ball to Law.

John Montgomery Ward, well known in this city, has retired from base ball and the New York club loses a valuable second baseman, a captain and a manager. Ward has played ball for seventeen years. He was among the first of curve pitchers when he joined the old Philadelphia Athletics, an American association club in 1877. Ward educated himself for a lawyer with some of the money he made in base ball, and he will start into practice with a snug fortune. Ward was one of the leaders in the Brotherhood warfare and Mike Kelley blamed him for its failure. John Montgomery is a good player and a tricky one, but he has never done half as much for the game as it has done for him.

When Ward was pitching for the Philadelphia Athletics his catcher was Harold M. McClure, who is now president judge of the Twentieth district, Union, Snyder and Mifflin counties. McClure left the diamond for the law some years ago and resided in this city. In 1892 he was elected judge and moved to Lewisburg.

Jury Commissioners.

Jury commissioners Bower and Aley, arrived in town on Monday for the purpose of drawing their last jury, for the coming January term of court. The next time Messrs. Joseph Hoy, of Marion township, and John D. Decker, of Potters Mills, will put in the new names and give the wheel a spin.

—Zeb Bathurst has been reappointed District President for Centre county by the State Camp of the P. O. S. of A. The faithful work done by Mr. Bathurst last year met with general approval by all the members, and his re-commission for the position meets with universal satisfaction.

Ripans Tabules: one gives relief.

Resolutions Adopted by the Board of Health.

The following resolutions were adopted to the Board of Health of Bellefonte Monday Evening, Dec. 3, 1894:

Whereas, It has come to the knowledge of the Board of Health of the Borough of Bellefonte that diphtheria is now prevailing in the villages of Pleasant Gap, Lauvertown and in some parts of the surrounding community. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That all citizens residing in and in and about the above named places, together with all persons who may frequent these localities, be urged to make publicly known any such cases and adopt all known measures to prevent a further spread of this highly contagious and largely fatal disease.

The following instructions were given to the Health Officer:

The Health officer is hereby instructed to inspect all cess-pools and springs in the vicinity of the spring from which the Borough receives its supply of water and report the condition of the same to the Board at its next meeting

By order of the Board.
H. C. Quigley, Sec'y.

State College Experiment Station Notes.

Within the past year a new feeding stuff called "cotton seed feed" has been quite extensively advertised in this and other states. This feed purports to be a mixture of one part of cottonseed meal and five parts of cotton hulls by weight, and is sold in car-lots at $11.50 per ton in bulk. It is specially recommended for fattening purposes but is also claimed to give good results in the production of milk and butter.

Experiments have been made at the State College Experiment station and the result shows the new feed to be more expensive and less nutritious than either corn fodder or timothy hay. The general conclusion drawn is that cotton-seed feed is too expensive in proportion to the amount of food it contains to successfully compete, on equal terms, with ordinary dairy feeds at average prices.

Funeral of Dr. Musser.

Tuesday's Tyrone Herald says: The funeral ceremonies attending the last sad rites upon the remains of Dr. Franklin Musser were largely attended on Monday afternoon by friends from Altoona, Hollidaysburg, Williamsburg, Scotch Valley, Canoe Valley, Franklin and Spruce Creek Valley, Marengo, Scotia, Half Moon Valley, Warriorsmark Valley, Bellefonte and other sections. All rendered tribute to the worth of one they knew well in life. The funeral services, which were very impressive, were held in the First Presbyterian church, and were conducted by Rev. H G Furbay, J. C. Kelley and T. S. Armentrout. A delegation from Lodge No. 268, of Bellefonte, of which he was a member, and a full representation from Lodge No. 494 Free and Accepted Masons, of Tyrone, participated in the exercises and performed the usual rites attending the burial of a brother.

The Gormans.

In presenting "The Gilhoolys Abroad" to the patrons of the opera house Manager Garman can assure them a most novel, original and thoroughly enjoyable entertainment. The Gorman's reputation is world-wide, and they come this year with an entirely new play, which is filled with the brightest and cleverest sort of fun, musical gems well sung, amusing situations, new dances, marches and entertaining specialties. The Gormans themselves will be seen in several new creations. All lovers of clean comedy should see "The Gilhoolys Abroad."

—If the weather is nice on Saturday the Williamsport High school foot ball team, one of the best amateur teams in the central part of the state will be here and play the Academy team on the glass works meadow grounds. The game will be called promptly at two o'clock; it will undoubtedly be a good one, as the Williamsport team is strong and the Bellefonte Academy team will be greatly strengthened for the game. The price of admission will be but 25 cents, and there should be a large crowd should be present to see the game.

—Geo. Baldwin, the Florist, has just received a large stock of beautiful goods in his line, suited to the season, and is ready to furnish to all who may want them. Everygreens, Mistletoe and Holly for Christmas decorations. He has also the largest and most beautiful variety of flowers, cut and in pots, ever seen in this town before. They are a great attraction to the ladies, crowds of whom flock to his store every day to see, admire and covet. Every body knows where it is, or ought to—210 Wesh High Street.

Three to Think About.

A rich, mellow, winning voice makes any conversation a success.

A man must be excessively stupid, as well as uncharitable, who believes there is no virtues but on his own side.

Moods are shadows shutting the light from the mind and leaving the victim in darkness, with pain tugging at the heart.

—They are pushing business at court this week, holding two courts, one in the Arbitration room presided over by Judge Furst, and one in the court room over which Judge Archibald, of Scranton, holds sway. Thomas Lucas, of Howard, is serving as extra court reporter. There are jurors enough to make three juries and when they run short they take any good-looking man who may happen to be about as talisman.

Personal Pencillings.

Terence V. Powderly, the great laboror reformer, spent the day in Bellefonte.

Editor Fry, of the York "Pennsylvanian," was in Bellefonte on Monday and paid his respects to the governor-elect.

Mr. James R. Hughes, who was away on a trip to New York and Philadelphia, returned to his home in this place on Monday.

Misses Margaret and Blanche Cook, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cook, returned Saturday evening from a visit to Hughesville, Lycoming county.

Lieutenant Geo. L. Jackson has been confined to his house for the last two weeks with catarrhal fever. He was out for the first time on Wednesday.

Miss Jennie Robb, after having spent a pleasant Thanksgiving with her friend, Miss Bertie Noll, departed for her home in Lock Haven, Monday morning.

Dr. R. G. H. Hayes and wife have returned from a three weeks' trip to Philadelphia, where the doctor was attending to professional work while Mrs. Hayes visited friends.

Miss Laura Cherry, daughter of Mr. Theodore Cherry, of this place, departed on the early train this morning for a visit among friends in Shamokin. She expects to be gone about a month.

The Hot Water Bag.

An excellent authority says that the uses and value of what is known as the hot water bag are not understood as fully as they should be. Many persons rightfully consider them indispensable in the house, and, in a large sense, they are right. They are admirable bed warmers, that is, they take from the sheets the chilliness so repelling to most people. They serve as an alleviator of neuralgia, and not unfrequently digestion will be promoted by the use of the bag laid directly over the stomach. Very frequently, for various reasons, persons are compelled to retire with cold feet than which scarcely anything is less conducive to sleep. A hot water bag partially filled and placed where the feet can have ready access to it warms them, stimulates, circulation, and prepares the user for sleep, which, but for this comforting appliance might not come for hours, and sometimes not for the entire night. Those who try the hot water bag in the directions indicated will not readily dispense with it.

Smith—Cowdrick.

Moses Cowdrick, of Clearfield, is a brother of our townsman, Morris W. Cowdrick, of East Linn street. On Wednesday he gave in marriage the hand of his daughter May to Mr. Boyd Smith and on the same day the happy couple started on their bridal tour. They arrived in Bellefonte on the evening train and were driven to the house of their uncle Morris, where a reception was given them by their cousin, Miss Mable, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Cowdrick. Quite a number of Miss Mable's young friends called to congratulate the happy pair and "All went merry as a marriage bell." Mr. and Mrs. Smith will remain in Bellefonte a few days then will continue their journey. May they live long and be happy, is the wish of "ye editor."

—Manager Garman announces as his attraction for next Saturday evening, at the opera house The Gormans, John, James and George, in the new musical farce entitled "The Gilhooly's Abroad." The Gormans are well known and favorites in this city, having for years been proprietors of the Gormans' High Class Minstrels. "The Gilhooly's Abroad" is a departure in farce comedy, and contains many funny situations, pretty dances, marches, and lots of good singing.

—The invitations for the dedication of Bellefonte's new armory have been sent out within the past day or so.

Surprised the Populists.

Montgomery, Ala., December 3.—The bill introduced by Representative Knight in the house to-day making it a crime punishable by a fine of not less than $1,000 nor more than $10,000 and not over twenty-five years' imprisonment in the penitentiary for any person to attempt to discharge the duties of an office to which he had not been declared elected by the constituted authorities was a bombshell in the camp of the populists and has aroused the bitterest opposition. The bill was referred to a committee, which held a meeting tonight and at once agreed on a favorable report. There is no doubt that the bill will be passed through with the hope of nipping Kolb's dual government in the bud.

The relations between the populists and the democrats in the two houses are becoming more strained every day. It is difficult to forecast where it will end.

Common Pleas Court Cases.

The following civil cases have been disposed of in court this week:

Jacob McClarren vs. Davidson & Son., verdict for the plaintiff.

Lucy Auman vs. Jonathan Lingle, an action of ejectment for a tract of land in Gregg township; verdict for the plaintiff.

J. H. McCauley, admr., vs. Henry Brown, admr. of John Diven, deceased; verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $131.

Chesta Miller vs. Daniel Garman, case of damages for injuries occasioned by a fall some two years ago on the ice on the pavement in front of his residence. The case was conducted by Harry Keller for plaintiff and Bower & Orvis for defendant. The jury found for the plaintiff in the sum of $153.

Mary Cook, admr., vs. Robert Confer, an action to test the title of property held by the defendant, but formerly owned by his father, Michael Confer. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant, sustaining the title to the property.

Martha Hicks vs. Thomas Cowher, action compromised and verdict taken for $126 for plaintiff.

John I. Thompson vs. Graysdale Mining company, Verdict taken by agreement of council in the sum of $1,899.62 for the plaintiff.

The case of Wafel vs. Philipsburg borough, an action to recover twenty thousand dollars damages for injuries sustained by a fall on a defective pavement, is now on trial.

Pay Car Remodled.

The pay car of Tyrone division, Pennsylvania railroad, has been returned from the Altoona shops where it had recently undergone a complete overhauling. Some material changes on the inside arrangement were made and everything is brightened up by painting, upholstering, etc. The dining and sitting room at one end is cozy and comfortable, and the little longing room next to it is equally as cozy, while the kitchen next is complete as the space will allow. It has a range, ice box, cupboards, etc. Next to the kitchen at the other end of the car is the pay room arranged with counter, desk, safe, etc. Altogether the car, heated by hot water, is neat, convenient and so arranged and finished as to make it pleasant. Correct plate glass in the end windows gives opportunity for accurately observing the condition as the car moves along.

—Several weeks ago the firm of Lyon & Co. were getting along with six clerks. Moyer, who is the business end of the firm, decided to see what he could do by advertising his business. He put an ad. in all the papers and sent out all over the county thousands of circulars telling the people what he had to sell and at what low prices he would sell for. The result has been that he has had to increase his help until now he has nineteen clerks, all kept as busy as bees, and his sales have increased to such an amount that where he used to take in dollars he takes in tens and where he took tens he now takes hundreds, and where he took in hundreds he gets thousands. One day last week he took in over seven hundred dollars. The firm of Lyon & Co. have been known all over this county for years and yet in one month, by advertising, they accomplished these surprising results.

To Protect Game.

At a joint meeting of the various committees appointed by the Pennsylvania state sportsmen's association it was decided to introduce at the next session of the legislature a bill to create a game commission, which shall consist of six members, to be appointed by the governor, the commission to have the power to appoint ten game wardens at a salary of $500 each. The commissioners shall receive only their necessary traveling expenses, but the secretary will get $900 a year and have an office at Harrisburg.

Wednesday, Dec. 19, Directors' Day.

Last week we published the program of the teachers' institute of this county, to be held December 17 to 21, and in doing so stated that Thursday, December 20th, would be Directors' Day. This was a mistake, as it has been arranged this year to have the directors meet in annual session on Wednesday instead of Thursday, which will be on December 19th. School directors throughout the county will please take notice.

—Among the prominent gentlemen who called on General Hastings on Tuesday were Hon. T. V. Powderly, tha great laborer agitator; Senator Jesse Baker, of Media, of the Baker ballot law fame; Senator Critchfield of Somerset county; Col Frank Magee, and his staff of captains, of the Eighth regiment of York, Pa.; Major Weymouth, of Lock Haven, and Charles Adams, of Cumberland county.

—Camp 447, P. O. S. of A., will have a flag raising at Pleasant Gap next Monday when Clarence F. Huth and William Weand will make speeches. It will be an interesting occasion.
